NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—About one hundred depositors of the Riverside Bank in Eighth avenue began to withdraw their accounts today. The bank owes depositors about $2500.

It was reported this afternoon that Secretary Cortelyou had deposited about $8,000,000 in New York banks today, in addition to deposits which he had previously made. Money brokers, none-representing the Morgan pool circulated in the Stock Exchange watching developments, but making no loans for several hours, as the need of the brokers did not appear to be urgent and most of the trading was being done in cash.

The first open loan of money on call was made about 1:30 p. m. in lots of $5,000 to $10,000, at 50 per cent.

At 1:30 Clark Williams, State Superintendent of Banks, gave out the following signed statement:

"By the facts within my knowledge and information received from reliable sources, I am convinced that great improvement in the situation has occurred during the morning. If depositors are not unreasonable I look for a continuance of this improvement."

The Clearing House committee went into session at 2 o'clock. Leading financiers and bank presidents were called in consultation with the committee.

Call money was quoted at 75 per cent at 2 p. m.

The Williamsburg Trust Co. of Brooklyn, which has a capital stock of $500,000, closed its doors this afternoon. It owed depositors about $750,000.

At the office it was said that the institution closed its doors temporarily because of lack of ready cash and for the better protection of depositors. The company has abundant securities, but owing to financial excitement and money stringency in Manhattan Borough, it was unable to obtain sufficient actual currency.

Advanced at the Opening.
The opening prices of stocks showed many wide advances today, but in the reaction they fell short,
as a rule, of the parity established before the local market opened. St.
Paul particularly running about 1% and United States Steel preferred 1%. Other stocks reacted after the opening from the first advances. Southern Railway preferred jumped 5/8 on the first sale,
American Smelting rose 3/4, Union Pacific 2, Canadian Pacific 1 1/2, Delaware & Hudson 1 1/2, Baltimore & Ohio and American Smelting preferred 1 1/2. Great Northern preferred 1 1/2, and several others a point. An immediate reaction wiped out these gains within ten minutes, the average level of the market relapsing to below last night.

Northern Pacific and Reading weakened 3/4, Illinois Central 3/4, Consolidated Gas 3/4, American Locomotive 1/4, and Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred and American Smelting 1/2. There were some stock recoveries at noon. Bonds were weak recoveries at noon. Bonds were weak recoveries at noon.

Trust Company Still Paying.
The Lincoln Trust Co. resumed payment to its depositors as usual this morning.

Secretary Cortelyou was at the Sub-
Treasury today. The Secretary said:
"There is nothing to say on the situation now, except to reaffirm my former expressions of belief that matters are steadily improving."

It is understood that the necessities of the Stock Exchange situation will be met today as they were yesterday. J. P.
Morgan & Co. were advised early as to the Stock Exchange position by President Thomas of the Exchange. Loans made on the Stock Exchange today will carry over to next Monday.

It is understood that negotiations were begun today by international bankers looking to the importation of gold from London and Paris. It is expected that from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 will be engaged for those centers for import, if necessary.

Newspaper As Obstruction.

At the same moment one of the men being watched and who was standing in front of one of the Subtreasury watchmen raised a newspaper as if he were looking for something and obstructed the view of the watchman.

Then the other grabbed the $500 lying on the bench and started out the front door. The bank runner instantly gave chase, raising an alarm as he did so.

The runner was close to the thief when the man who held the newspaper stuck out his foot and tripped him and tried to escape. He had only gone a few feet, however, when the watchman captured him.

Others in the Subtreasury started after the man with the money. Getting safely out of the building the robber started west on Chestnut street, wrapping the $500 in a newspaper as he ran.

His pursuers gained on him and seeing that he could not get away, he threw the money in a hole in the sidewalk in front of a building under construction. He was captured a half block from the Subtreasury.

Both men were taken to Central Police Station at the City Hall. They gave their names as C. D. Isles and Charles Watkins and said they lived in New York. Bates, who seized the money, carried a loaded revolver.

SUB-TREASURY
ROBBED; THIEVES ARE CAPTURED

Two Men Take $5000 From

SCHEME A BOLD ONE

Watched Runner Get Bills and Took Them at First Chance.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—One of the boldest attempts at robbery in this city in a long time occurred today when two men tried to get away with $5000 which they had seized from a bank runner in the United States Subtreasury.

Both were arrested and all the money was recovered. The two men had been hanging around the Subtreasury for several days and were being watched by bank detectives and Subtreasury watchmen.

About 11 o'clock this morning P. J.
Cronin, a runner for the Franklin National Bank, was handed several large bundles of money by a paying teller in the Subtreasury. He placed $500 in a satchel and walked to a bench nearby with the remainder, amounting to $500, in $100 bills. He laid the money on the bench, intending to open the satchel and place it with the other money.

WOMAN ASLEEP
SHORN OF BRAID
FIVE FEET LONG

Bedroom Entered by Man Who Clips Tresses and Escapes in Dark.

OLD SUITOR SUSPECTED

Husband Had Trouble With Rival Before the Wedding and After.

A lock of the golden hair of Mrs. J.
L. Stark of 2946 La Salle street, which hung to her feet and was five feet long, was slashed from her head by a midnight vandal, who broke into a bedroom in her mother's home in Kansas
City and seized her while she slept.

The young wife's husband, J. L. Stark, suspects a former suitor, with whom he (Stark) quarreled.

Mrs. Stark is not quite 21. She is fair and her hair is soft and golden, slightly tinged with an auburn hue. It hangs when unloosed to her shoulders and always has been greatly admired. She was married three years ago, at the age of 18. Her mother is Mrs. A. M.
Eaton of 82 East Fifteenth street, Kansas City.

A week ago last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Stark left for Kansas City, arriving there that night and going at once to her mother's home. The husband remained until the following Monday and returned to St. Louis. Mrs. Stark occupied a bedroom with her mother.

On Saturday night she retired early, braiding her long hair and coiling the braids into knots on the top of her head. She slept soundly. Later her mother came in, fastened a bolt on the door and retired, without waking her daughter.

Shortly after 2 a. m. the household was aroused by a series of screams from the room occupied by Mrs. Stark and her mother. The rest of the family rushed to that room.

"Somebody has cut off my hair," cried Mrs. Stark. "I was asleep when I felt somebody take hold of me by the hair, lift me up, and slash my hair off. I screamed and he ran. I heard him going down the front stairs three or four steps at a time. I didn't see him at all. He was behind me and sprang through the door before I could turn to look around."

An investigation proved that her hair had been so cut that the missing lock was taken from the middle of her head.
The hair on a space two or three inches across was gone, but, owing to the location of the cutting, Mrs. Stark was enabled to dress her hair so as to conceal the loss.

A lamp was burning in the room, dimly, but gave sufficient light for the vandal to see what he was doing. The door on the door had yielded to force and was broken. Neither of the women, however, heard any noise before
Mrs. Stark screamed.

Both men were taken to Central Police Station at the City Hall. They gave their names as C. D. Isles and Charles Watkins and said they lived in New York. Bates, who seized the money,
carried a loaded revolver.

$200,000 TO BE PAID FOR SAIN TODAY

James R. Keene to Get Great Stallion at Record Price.

DICKER AT WOODLANDS

Barney Schreiber and Maj. Daingerfield Come From Latonia for Sale.

Barney Schreiber's great stallion Sain will be sold to James R. Keene of New York today probably for $200,000. This will be the greatest price ever paid anywhere in the world for a racehorse. Sain has sired over $1,000,000 worth of racehorses in the last eight years. Schreiber, master of the Woodlands stock farm at Bridgeton, St. Louis County, where Sain and the other horses of his stud are quartered, arrived in St. Louis this morning from Cincinnati, accompanied by Maj. Clinton Daingerfield, Mr. Keene's brother-in-law, who comes to buy the great horse.

Keene has offered $150,000 for Sain and Schreiber met the proposition by raising the selling value $50,000. The price Keene was willing to pay equalled the highest figure ever paid for a horse, the record established when Rock Sand, winner of the English Derby, and Adam, the French horse, were sold, the latter last year.

Best Stallion in America. For some time Sain has been considered the most valuable stallion in America, his sons and daughters having won fortunes on the turf this year. He is now nearly 15 years of age, while Adam, last year's $150,000 stallion, is but three.

Schreiber bought Sain at an auction sale of supposedly broken-down horses in California for a paltry $2500. If ever a horse was worth a big price Sain is the animal. His breeding is as good, if not the best, in the world. His sire was St. Cert and his dam The Task. St. Cert was a son of St. Simon, the greatest, producing stallion England has ever known, sire of the wonderful Derby winner, Persimmon. The Task was the best mare in Ireland in her time, being by the great Balardine.

Marcus Daly, the Montana copper king, imported The Task while she was in foal, the foal proving to be Sain. Sain was entered in the Futurity, and much was expected of him as a youngster, but before the big race he went lame and never amounted to much afterwards. Daly won the Futurity that year, however, with Ogden, ridden by the St. Louis jockey, Faherville.

Did Little in Racing. Sain, after his breakdown, had an uneventful career and was raced around the winter tracks in California. There Schreiber ran across him and bought him for his Missouri stock farm. One of Sain's first get to attract attention was Otis, winner of the St. Louis derby. Others now prominent in the racing world are Nealon, Tony Faint, Otto Steffel, Jack Atkins, which last the great sprinter, Rockton; Schwalbe, Dewey, Gehmness and the fast Deutschland.

Despite the English-Irish origin of Sain, Schreiber has named most of the

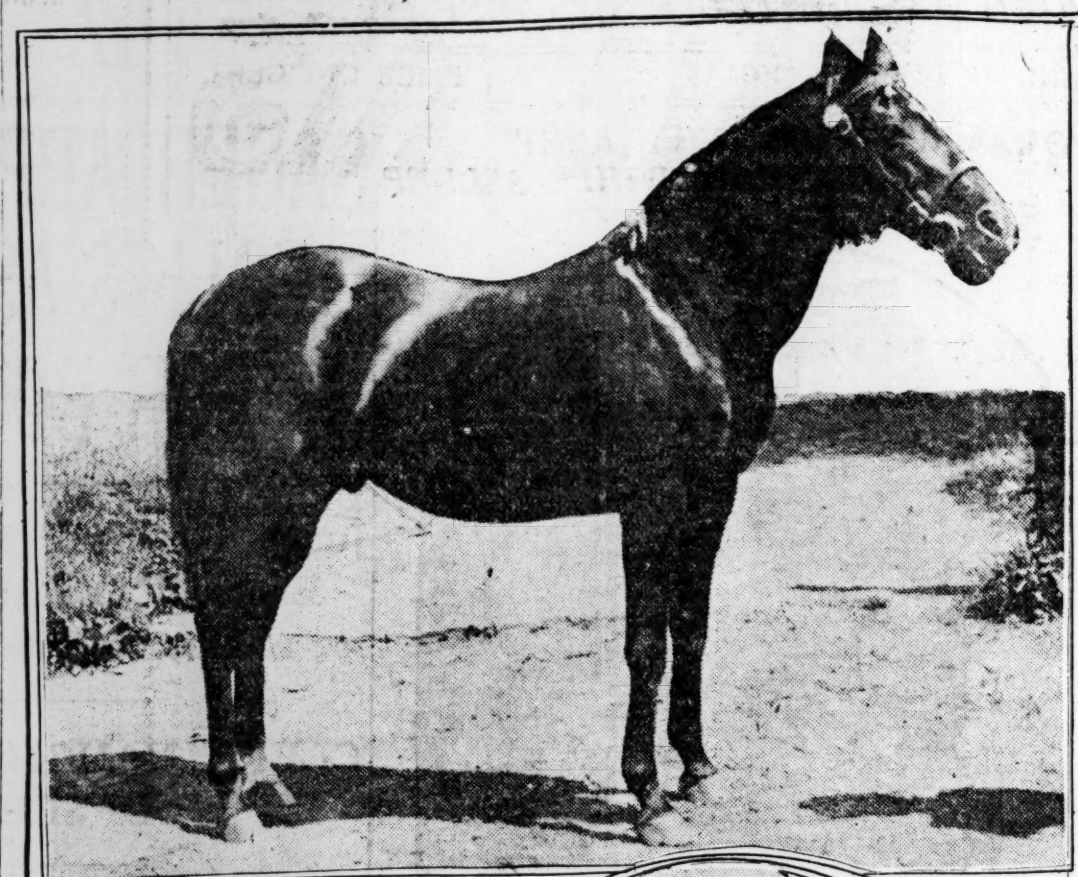

NOTICE
To the People of St. Louis.
All persons in St. Louis must hold themselves responsible for any weakness or suffering caused from old age, chronic coughs or colds, bronchitis, weak lungs, run-down conditions, stomach troubles, nervousness or poor blood. We are willing to sell them the cod liver preparation, Vinol, and let them keep their money if it does not benefit.

The reason Vinol is so successful in restoring health and creating strength is because it contains in addition to tonic iron all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, the weakest stomach, therefore, unequaled as a strength creator and tonic restorer.

It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in St. Louis, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs, bronchitis or inappetent consumption to try Vinol on our guarantee. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

MILLIONAIRE TURFMEN WHO ARE BARTERING FOR SAIN, AND THE $200,000 STALLION get of the stallion after well-known Germans. Some time ago Schreiber was asked if he would sell Sain and the Missouri turfmans replied that he would sell any horse he had if he could get a good price for him.

The Woodlands Stock Farm, which is only a few miles from St. Louis, was started by Schreiber in a small way, but has grown until now it is nearly the largest breeding establishment of fine horses in the world, being excelled only by the Haggle estate and the Castleton stud belonging to Keene.

Price No Object. Maj. Daingerfield, Keene's brother-in-law, arrived at Cincinnati last night with the object of purchasing Sain for the New York millionaire. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars for Sain was Keene's offer, but $200,000 was the price Schreiber asked. That this enormous price has not staggered Keene, is shown by his representative leaving Cincinnati with Schreiber on the midnight train last night for St. Louis.

Since the death of Commodore, the sire of Colin, Celt, Peter Pan and most of his greatest winners on the turf this year, Keene has been looking around for another stallion worthy of being placed at the head of the Castleton stud farm, and it is said he has finally decided Sain is the horse he wants.

MRS. HEWSON WILL KISS, BUT DENIES BLAME

Pastor's Wife Refuses to Sign Paper Exonerating Her Husband.

WILLING TO MAKE UP

She Says, However, That She Doubts Good Faith of Harmony Plea.

Mrs. Gertrude Hewson told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that she was perfectly willing to kiss and make up with her husband, Rev. Earl Hewson of the Reber Place Congregational Church, but that she positively would not sign any paper exonerating him of blame for their marital troubles.

Pastor Hewson's separation from his wife, her habeas corpus suit to get possession of her 4-year-old child, Gertrude, and their charges and counter charges, caused his ministerial standing to be investigated by a committee of Congregational ministers.

As a result of this committee's report, made Thursday afternoon at a session of the St. Louis Association of Congregational Ministers and Churches in session at 142 North Tenth street, Rev. Mr. Hewson may become a minister of the association, which, through a technical defect, he has never joined, provided the will be reconciled with Mrs. Hewson or convince the committee that he has honestly tried to become reconciled. He says he will make the attempt.

Wife Is Still Skeptical.
Mrs. Hewson says that if he does make the attempt it will be only because he wants to become a member of the ministerial association.

"I cannot believe that Earl sincerely wants to become reconciled," Mrs. Hewson said. "He came to me three times while his trial was in progress and told me he was willing to live with me again, but each time he wanted me to sign a paper saying he was not at all to blame for our troubles."

"That isn't true, and I don't propose to persevere just to 'regain him.' Both of us are to blame. The report of the committee that the quarrels were due to my 'nervous irritability' is incorrect. I had just and real cause for jealousy, and it wasn't jealousy of my husband's work either—his conduct at times did not become a minister. But I am willing to forget it all for the sake of our child—provided I am not asked to sign any papers."

Corn Field Sweetness

Corn has been known as a food since the days of the prophets, but it may safely be said it has never before been prepared in so delicious a form as Elijah's Manna.

This food is simply the sweetness of the cornfield done up in packages ready to eat without the bother of cooking. It is made of pearly white corn rolled into flakes and toasted a delicious brown.

Grocers sell Pony packages at 5 cents; large Family size at 15 cents.

Elijah's Manna

The most delicious flavour of any flake food known.

OUTSIDER MAY GET JOB AS ASSISTANT SCHOOL HEAD

Supt. Soldan Says He Is Out for the Best Material Obtainable.

Supt. Soldan of the public schools of St. Louis told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday he has not yet decided upon the man he will nominate as one of the four assistant superintendents.

It might be a St. Louis man, he said, and it might be a non-resident educator. Assistant Supt. Foster died during the vacation season. Mr. Soldan says it was originally his idea to promote one of the principles to the vacancy, but that he changed his mind after learning from members of the Board that they wanted the best man available anywhere named, regardless of geographical or sentimental considerations.

C. W. Johnson, chairman of the committee on instruction, was present while Mr. Soldan was being interviewed. He added that he was strongly in favor of getting the best man, regardless of whence he came.

SOROSIS Shoes—New Models for the Children:

Referring to Children's Sorosis Shoes, a mother said recently, "The knowledge that my children's feet are in no danger from badly shaped, poor fitting shoes, makes up ten times over, for the little extra cost of Sorosis."

In using the above remark we express the known sentiment of thousands of mothers all over the land, who buy Sorosis for themselves and for their children.

That Totally Different "Just Right" Clothing For Men and Young Men.

A Clothing Question and Its Answer
What is the difference between Custom Tailoring and "Just Right" Ready-to-Wear Clothing?

Think of the following facts for a moment—you men who think that only a custom tailor can make your clothes—and in them you will find the answer to our question:

Custom tailoring hasn't advanced a step in a generation—ask your father, or look at some of his old clothes.

The Ready-Made Clothing trade seeks out, and employs for its designers, at handsome salaries, all the tailors who develop the highest skill. Quite naturally the manufacturer whose dealings run up into the millions of dollars annually can afford to employ far higher skill than the private tailor, who is limited to some thousands. It is a fact that the designers of "Just Right" clothing receive larger salaries than the entire net profits of the majority of really successful tailors.

"Just Right" garments are scientifically perfect in all their various proportions, and the last touches of individual fit are made after we try the Suit or Overcoat on you.

That is why "Just Right" clothing is better and handsomer than the majority of custom-made clothing, and that is why men who wear it are supposed by their friends to be wearing the finest custom-made garments.

Thousands of men in St. Louis are paying more for clothing not nearly as good as the "Just Right" garments, simply because they are clinging to the old superstition of the custom tailor instead of getting up to date and wearing "Just Right" Suits and Overcoats.

Are you going to keep on paying from ten to thirty dollars more for every garment you buy just because ready-made clothing used to be made so badly, or because the common run of ready-made clothing is still made in the good-for-nothing way? That is YOUR question.

"Just Right" clothing contains the best tailoring skill it is possible to put into clothing. Try it on. See for yourself. In no other way can you realize its wonderful merits.

JAP LEADER SAYS PACIFIC CRUISE IS BAD DIPLOMACY

But His People Are Sure There Will Be No War, Count Okuma Writes.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Dr. Louis L. Seaman, ex-Surgeon-Major, U. S. A., who was with the Japanese forces, both naval and military, during the Russo-Japanese war, has received a letter from Count Okuma, the Japanese progressive leader, in which the Count said that the sending of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific is not good diplomacy.

"Foreign newspapers," Count Okuma wrote, "are too pessimistic. The Japanese are convinced that there will be no war. Every case like the San Francisco incident is sure to have a bad effect. I think that the trouble is due to the State's sovereignty principle in the United States. The power of the States is too great. They are too independent. The sending of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific is not good diplomacy."

Horse Beaters Flee From Woman. Seeing two men beating a horse, Mrs. Anna Regensburg of the Human Society left her home, 185 Hamilton avenue, Thursday evening and ran to the rescue of the animal. The men fled. The outfit was taken to the Mounted District Station, where it was claimed by Mrs. Mary Watkins of 115 North Eighteenth street, who had hired the horse to two hucksters, whose names she did not know.

Crushed to Death by Poles. Joseph Yates, an electrician of 670 Bartner avenue, St. Louis County, was crushed to death by a number of electric light poles that rolled on him. He was riding Thursday on a wagon loaded with poles and at Morgan street and Hobart avenue the clutch that held the poles on the wagon broke. Yates started to jump but he was caught under them and crushed to death. His body was removed to his home.

Warrant No. 165 was drawn for the amount of the bill—$1085.50—and paid to George R. Wolfarth, who received it. The stamps on the face of the warrant show that it was cashed at the National Bank of Commerce Sept. 10 and that it went through the clearing house the following day. Sept. 11, the day after the warrant had been given to Wolfarth, it was returned by the bank to the City Auditor.

The first indorsement was Doyle & Gahl, per George R. Wolfarth. Immediately under that appears "R. A. Linde Carpet Co., William O. Linde." The final indorsement, under the others, is George C. Linde. The handwriting in each case is different.

The bill purports to cover "cleaning and retouching decorations in chamber, two committee rooms, waiting room, record room, secretary's office; taking up, renovating and rolling carpets in all rooms; furnishing new shades on all windows, silk curtains on doors, windows and transoms; cleaning and hanging draperies, including labor for same."

No objection was raised to the bill by City Auditor Dierkes, although he later refused to allow a claim for similar work done in the Council.

The stationery on which the bill is written shows William C. Gahl as president; William F. Gahl, secretary; and W. F. Doyle as manager of the Doyle & Gahl company. George R. Wolfarth, also manager, was formerly in business for himself on Park avenue. Doyle & Gahl's place of business—2629 Olive street—is in Delegate Hussey's ward.

Councilman A. H. Thompson was the author of the resolution introduced Aug. 14-10 days after that of Gallagher—in the House empowering a committee to enter into a contract for the cleaning and decoration of the Council chamber and secretary's office. At the same meeting President Foreman appointed Thompson chairman and Councilmen Meeliman and Hauschulte members of the committee.

Thompson and Linde were very active in superintending the job. Linde, although not a member of the committee, was on hand nearly every day.

But Not Reported to Council. When the work had been completed Thompson did not refer the bill to the Council. He didn't even seek the secretary's approval. Instead, he took the bill directly to the City Auditor and requested that it be allowed.

That was denied and Mr. Dierkes' letter brought the subject up for discussion in the Council.

Thompson was asked by Councilman Norvell whether he had sought any other bids in addition to that of the Enterprise Carpet Cleaning Co. Thompson replied that he had not heard of any other bids.

He was instructed to present to the Council a contract and an itemized account of the work done and materials furnished.

Thompson has never made a report to the Council and the bill remains unpaid.

FANCY PRICES IN ASSEMBLY BILLS ARE UNDER FIRE

Delegates and Councilmen Expect to Tell Grand Jury About House Cleaning.

DISOBEYED THE LAW

Their Committees Contracted for Work They Should Have Left to Board.

Members and officers of the City Council as well as the House of Delegates are expecting subpoenas to appear before the grand jury and explain the peculiar system both branches of the Municipal Assembly used in cleaning and decorating their chambers during the past summer, at a cost of $2,000.

Instead of having the work done under the supervision of the President of the Board of Public Improvements and purchasing whatever new furnishings were needed through the Commissioner of Supplies, both branches named special committees to have the work done. These committees let the work to private concerns.

For touching up the House of Delegates chamber and attached rooms, the firm of Doyle & Gahl received $1085.50. For renovating the Council chamber the Enterprise Carpet Cleaning Co. is trying to get $365.

The reason it has not been able to collect the bill is that City Auditor Dierkes has refused to allow it without the approval of the Council in open session and the Council apparently does not intend to approve the account.

Linde to Be Heard.

The House of Delegates approved the Doyle & Gahl bill in open session and on this approval Mr. Dierkes allowed the bill. The payment of this bill, however, has brought a member of the Council, George C. Linde, into the cleaning controversy and he may be asked to testify before the grand jury.

Councilman Linde's name appears as an indorser on the city warrants drawn to pay the Doyle & Gahl bill of $1085.50. Mr. Linde is connected with the R. A. Linde Carpet Co., of which his father is the head.

The renovation and decoration of the House chamber was done under a resolution introduced by Delegate Gallagher and passed Aug. 6. The resolution empowered the Committee on House of Delegates, of which Gallagher is chairman, to let the contract and oversee the work. Hussey and Tirre are other members of the committee.

Contract Was Missing.

The work was completed before Aug. 11, the date of the bill rendered by Doyle & Gahl. It was allowed in open session Aug. 27. The bill was presented for payment in the office of the City Auditor Sept. 10. No contract was attached, although a notation on the face of the bill says the work was done and the materials furnished "as per contract."

Warrant No. 165 was drawn for the amount of the bill—$1085.50—and paid to George R. Wolfarth, who received it. The stamps on the face of the warrant show that it was cashed at the National Bank of Commerce Sept. 10 and that it went through the clearing house the following day. Sept. 11, the day after the warrant had been given to Wolfarth, it was returned by the bank to the City Auditor.

The first indorsement was Doyle & Gahl, per George R. Wolfarth. Immediately under that appears "R. A. Linde Carpet Co., William O. Linde." The final indorsement, under the others, is George C. Linde. The handwriting in each case is different.

The bill purports to cover "cleaning and retouching decorations in chamber, two committee rooms, waiting room, record room, secretary's office; taking up, renovating and rolling carpets in all rooms; furnishing new shades on all windows, silk curtains on doors, windows and transoms; cleaning and hanging draperies, including labor for same."

ASPHALT BILL INQUIRY WAITS FOR WITNESSES

Grand Juror Complains That Men Do Not Appear, Although Desired.

WANTS TO HEAR COYNE

Man Said to Have Seen Barber Company Denies Being Subpoenaed.

A member of the grand jury told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that the efforts of that body to learn all the facts bearing on the hostile attitude of the House of Delegates combine toward asphalt paving legislation are embarrassed by the absence of Robert Coyne and other important witnesses.

The Post-Dispatch published an expose of the asphalt hold-up Oct. 11. It was shown that the House Public Improvements Committee had held up asphalt street improvement bills 12 days, without report.

An interview with James T. McNulty, former agent of the Barber Asphalt Co., told of a proposition made by McNulty to the Barber Asphalt Co. for the employment of a legislative agent to obtain the passage of the asphalt bills. McNulty admitted that he told Coyne that Barber Asphalt Co. "might pay 1 cent a yard, the old price," for locusts and that Coyne indignantly spurned the offer, with the declaration that the asphalt bills would never pass at a 10 cent rate.

House Killed Asphalt Bills.

Immediately following the appearance of this expose, the House committee killed the asphalt bills, although private owners had voted unanimous approval of asphalt.

Circuit Attorney Sager announced at once that he would probe the asphalt hold-up. The grand jury was called to order three days later, but adjourned once. Mr. Sager said that one of the members was ill and another absent from the city.

At the same time Mr. Sager declared that grand jury subpoenas had been issued for Building Commissioner Smith, J. T. McNulty and Robert Coyne. When the grand jury met Oct. 14 Coyne was the only witness present. Because of the two missing jurors, he was not examined.

Coyne said he had not been subpoenaed but had come voluntarily.

McNulty testified later.

Not Wanted by Grand Jury.

"Neither Mr. Sager nor the grand jury apparently wants me," he added. At the conclusion of his conference with Mr. Sager the latter said there was "nothing new" in the asphalt paving investigation, but that the grand jury "might" take it up later.

In the interim the arrest of Delegate Warner and Priesmeyer on charges of bribery took place.

Following the grand jury session Friday night, Oct. 18, Mr. Sager again announced that the asphalt investigation would be considered. Meantime Coyne had disappeared.

Building Commissioner Smith, a personal friend of Circuit Attorney Sager, was interested with Coyne in the Perpetual Realty Co., organized to furnish bonds for city contractors and to conduct a general fire insurance business. Smith says his connection with the Perpetual Realty Co. embarrassed him and he resigned.

Mr. Sager received a letter a week ago making charges concerning the Building Commissioner's office, but he has not investigated them.

August Henan, president of the Jefferson Club and head of the Henan Contracting Co., was the principal witness before the grand jury Thursday afternoon.

"Sometime ago," said Henan, while waiting to testify, John Gundlach, the North St. Louis realty dealer, asked me to help in getting the asphalt bills through.

"I told him he could get asphalt streets if he paid for them, but that I was too old to mix up in anything like that just now."

"He was surprised, but I told him he need not be—it was generally talked about the City Hall."

GIRLS CALLED ON TO CONFRONT ACTOR IN COURT

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, when he appeared in the West Side Court as complainant against Hugo Voelckes, who, 34, alleges, accused him of ruining his 12-year-old sister, Elsie, and demanded $200 not to prosecute or make facts public, was accompanied by Flora Zabelle, Hitchcock's wife, who acts with him in the "Yankee Consul."

The names of several young girls were mentioned in the court of the examination. Hitchcock denied that he had ever wronged any of them. Under cross-examination he admitted having met several of them at various times. He admitted having taken Elsie Voelckes and Helen Von Hogen in his automobile to his country place in Great Neck. They came there two days later, he testified, of their own volition, and he sent them over night. Mrs. Hitchcock was away at the time.

Still later, he admitted, he took them to the furnish room house in West Forty-first street, which is known as "the house with the stained glass panes." He acknowledged he had known Bella McKenzie, who disappeared from her home three weeks ago, and admitted that he had met her since her disappearance.

All of these young girls with the exception of the missing Bella McKenzie will be sent before the grand jury today. Mrs. Carmelo of the house in Forty-first street has also been summoned as a witness. Hitchcock told on the stand the story of alleged blackmail. The rings which he gave Voelckes as "loot" for her services in court and the marked $200 in bills found on Voelckes when arrested, "these were identified by Hitchcock, he hearing will continue for several days, probably.

PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 25.—The Ute Indians at Cheyenne River Agency yesterday fully refused to comply with the orders of the agent, and when an attempt was made to bring them into subjection they made such a show of resistance that this city was wired for assistance, but a later dispatch stated that help was not needed, as the Indian police had succeeded in restoring quiet.

The Utes at their own request were placed on the Cheyenne River reservation following an outbreak in Utah and Western Colorado about a year ago.

WEDDING GIFTS WORTH $1,000, BURGLARS' LOOT

Home of John Blair Edwards Stripped of Silverware in Daylight.

WIFE WAS AWAY

Intruders Had Vanished With Booty When Mrs. Edwards Returned.

Daylight burglars stole all the silverware in the home of John Blair Edwards, an attorney, at 5570 Clemens avenue Thursday afternoon, while the family was away. The loot taken included knives, forks, spoons, bonbon dishes and other articles of table silver.

A search through the bedrooms showed that a few small pieces of jewelry were missing also. This loss consisted of small pins, of slight value.

Got Wedding Silver.

The stolen silverware included many wedding presents, highly prized on that account as well as because of its intrinsic value. Mrs. Edwards said Friday that she could place no definite estimate on the value of the articles taken by the burglars, but thought that the loss would aggregate about $100.

The list of stolen property furnished the police was:

Silver cake plate, two bon bon dishes, coffee pot, cream pitcher, sugar bowl, 12 soup spoons, 12 teaspoons, six table spoons, 12 coffee spoons, 12 three-prong oyster forks, six two-prong oyster forks, soup ladle, mug engraved "J. B. E.", tea caddy engraved "J. B. E.", silver salt ladle, mug engraved "J. B. E.", to N. C. H., four silver knives, two dessert spoons, four teaspoons engraved "J. B. E.", pie knife, three gravy ladles, two bon bon spoons, silver fork, two salt cellars, two salad spoons, olive dish, coffee pot engraved "J. B. E.", 12 pearl-handled knives.

These articles were in a leather case, marked with the initials "J. B. E."

The back door, which Mrs. Edwards found open, is supposed to have been where the burglars effected an entrance. It was not broken in, and the lock was intact. It is thought that a skeleton key was used.

WHISKERED JURY FOOLS LAWYER

Convicts Meager, Who Recently Shaved His Beard.

The judgment of Zach Mitchell, a Kirkwood attorney, proved to be at fault Thursday when he selected six men for jury service in Justice Worremer's court at Clayton principally because they had long whiskers. The jury found his client guilty of assaulting Fritz Evers Oct. 1 and fined him $1 and costs, $42 in all.

Evers is keeper of the greens at the Country Club and Meager was employed by him Evers, until recently, grew beards for the market. Ten months ago he shaved a heavy crop and announced his intention of growing no more whiskers for the market.

Since that time he has been closely shaved and Mitchell believed whiskered men would have a natural animosity toward him for that reason.

The evidence was presented of an encounter between Evers and Meager over payment of Meager's salary, in which Evers' whisker garden was said to have been thoroughly plowed and raked. Meager testified that Evers had attacked him with a shovel and a brassie.

TEACHERS PLAY KISSING GAMES WITH BIG BOYS

Prof. Richmond Declares That County Schoolma'ns Were Caught at It.

MEN DRINK, HE SAYS

His Paper Before Meeting Avers That Tutors Send Pupils for Toddy.

Schoolma'ns in St. Louis County play kissing games with big boys in their schools at recess. Prof. J. Richmond, principal of the Clayton schools, says so, and incidentally declares they should be stopped.

Men teachers came in for their share of censure in the paper which Prof. Richmond read before the county teachers' institute at Webster Groves Thursday afternoon. He said that some of them have made a practice of sending out pupils for toddy at certain hours each day.

These were only two of a number of allegations which Prof. Richmond made against "certain teachers," whose names he did not mention. The institute was greatly disturbed by Prof. Richmond's address, and before Friday's session many teachers angrily denounced him for making such statements.

The complaining teachers said they were not guilty of such practices as the Clayton principal described, and that they had no knowledge of others who did so. They said that Prof. Richmond, if he was sure of his information, should have named the offending teachers, and should not have made statements calculated to reflect on all the county teaching force.

"Pedagogic Righteousness."

Prof. Richmond's subject was "Pedagogic Righteousness," but he got down to short and, as President Roosevelt might say, ugly words, before he had gone far in his discourse.

He began with criticism of teachers who go to public dances.

"Here in St. Louis County, the banner county of the State," he said, "teachers attend public Saturday-night dances, and associate with the people who usually congregate at such places."

"Such things are beneath the dignity of the teaching profession, and should be severely condemned."

"Not a few teachers," Prof. Richmond continued, "have too gay a time in public places. Not long ago a county official saw five or six young women teachers standing near a place where the public waits for cars. They were having a gay time and did not seem to care how much attention they attracted from the men who were passing."

County Official Shocked.

"When they saw the county official watching them, they hurried to take a car. Someone asked the county official soon after if those young women were county teachers, and he said, 'I am sorry to say they are.'"

"I have known of cases where women teachers in this county made a practice of playing kissing games with the big boys, 15 and 16 years old, at recess, causing them about the school grounds and kissing them and being kissed by them."

"This was verified in one case by two men who heard that such things were being done at the school in their district. They would not believe it until they saw it."

"A good many teachers are too fond of the glass," and here Prof. Richmond criticized the young women who spend time in unnecessary and fussy primping about the schoolhouse. Then he turned upon the men with:

"And a good many men are too fond of the glass, but not the looking glass."

Says Men Teachers Drink.

"I know of men teachers in the county who make a practice of drinking not only after, but during school hours, and who send pupils to the nearest saloon for their toddy at certain hours of the day."

Prof. Richmond then spoke of the need for neatness among all teachers. "You are neat enough in your appearance when you come to the institute," he said, "but I fear you are not always so neat when you face your pupils."

"When the teacher's hair is tousled and the teacher's clothing untidy, a bad example is set for the child, which may result in lifelong slovenliness in dress."

"I know of one woman teacher in the county who appeared before her pupils with a gap between her waist and her skirt. Of course the whole school laughed at her."

The speaker illustrated the blatancy in the teacher's apparel with gestures, which made the teachers laugh and play, just as did the children whom he described. Some of them, in the general laugh, forgot for a time their indignation over his preceding statements.

The institute will continue through Saturday.

JUDGE WITNESSED CAR FIGHT

Police Judge H. W. Belding of Webster Groves saw a fight on a street car Monday afternoon, and for that reason Mayor E. S. Hart had to try the resulting case in the Webster Groves Police Court Thursday. Judge Belding being a witness.

The trouble occurred on a Meramec Highlands car, when the crowd was returning from the ballroom at the Clarendon. Miller of Webster Groves succeeded in attaching himself to the rear end of the car with much difficulty and when Conductor L. Lingenbreck asked for his fare Miller told him he could not reach his pocket at that time without great difficulty of losing his place. He said he would pay as soon as he could find more secure footing.

Lingenbreck insisted on immediate payment, and when it was delayed in bit Miller on the hand. He was fined $1.

REED'S BOOM IS WELL UNDER WAY

Former Mayor of Kansas City Holds Conference With Stone and Farris.

MEET IN JEFFERSON CITY

Old Guard Disappointed That Folk's Followers Do Not Support Cowherd.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 25.—A three-cornered conference Wednesday night at the Madison Hotel between Senator Stone, James A. Reed, former Mayor of Kansas City, and Representative Frank Farris suggested to politicians the capital that Reed boom for Governor will soon make its appearance.

The construction placed by local and visiting politicians on the conference here is that Reed is soon to declare himself a candidate, and that his interests in St. Louis and the eastern part of the State will be looked after to a certain extent by Farris.

Reed has been in Jefferson City several days arguing cases before the Supreme Court. Representative Farris, who is now practicing law in St. Louis, reached Jefferson City on an afternoon train Wednesday and almost immediately went into a private conference with Reed. They had dinner together, and after dinner Senator Stone joined them in the lobby of the Madison. Later Reed's room was used for the conference.

Stone Is Backing Reed.

It is generally believed among politicians that, although Stone is friendly to Cowherd's candidacy, he would prefer some other man to back for the nomination, and that Reed is that man. Simultaneously with Cowherd's announcement of his candidacy, the Old Guard Democracy, of which Senator Stone is the recognized leader, rushed to his support. It was the expectation, according to advisers which reached the capital, that the Folk wing of the party would not oppose Cowherd, and that in fact, they would find no objection to him whatsoever.

Cowherd spent several days in Jefferson City in an effort to enlist the support of Gov. Folk, Insurance Superintendent Vandiver and others of the reform element of the party. He was unsuccessful in getting even encouragement for his candidacy. The Folk men were non-committal.

The absolute failure to get support outside the Old Guard, coupled with the fact that the union labor organizations will back Cowherd almost as a man, is said to have disconcerted Senator Stone and his followers, and to have caused them to look about for other timber.

Farris refused to disclose his business in Jefferson City.

"No, I am not here on business with the Supreme Court," he said to the correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. "I came in this afternoon, and will go out on an early morning train."

Former Attorney-General Crow, who is being urged to make the race for Governor, has also been in Jefferson City on legal business for several days. He has declined to discuss the political situation.

BEATEN, FINED AND LOCKED UP

Hertel Does Not Know Why He Was Struck, He Says.

William Hertel, 7256 Gravois avenue, prosecuting witness in a disturbance of the peace case, was fined $10 Friday by Justice O'Hallaron for contempt of court. Hertel testified that he had been struck by George Walker, 4287 Lucky street, while walking along Market street Sunday.

He told the Justice he had no idea why Walker had struck him. Policeman Coble, who was with Hertel at the time of the assault, testified that Hertel had requested him to visit the Typographical Press Club on Market street, where he would find a lot of fellows lifting the lid. He says Hertel told him his reason in exposing the club was because he had been dismissed from membership.

Judge O'Hallaron ordered that Hertel be locked up until he fined Walker $5 for striking the prosecuting witness. Then Hertel was brought before the Justice and asked again whether he knew the reason Walker had struck him. He did not. Then he was fined and locked up once more.

SAID TO REST THE STOMACH

At a recent medical convention when discussing the subject of dyspepsia and its disastrous results at undermining the system, a prominent Boston specialist made the statement that his several years of investigation along this line convinced him that for the relief of indigestion there is nothing can approach the Pasteur formula for effectiveness and quick results.

He said its action completely takes over the digestion of the food, entirely relieving the stomach of its labors. In this way the digestive organs obtain a rest just as if eating were wholly discontinued and they quickly reconstituted their normal health and activity in the secretion of gastric fluid.

A well-known local physician when asked about this formula gave it as follows:

"Two ounces Essence of Peppermint, three ounces Calumir Compound, one ounce Calumir Compound. These to be well mixed and used in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal also at bedtime for the first four or five days."

He also said it was indeed very effective, although simple and pleasant to the taste, and that the ingredients can be had from any good drug store and easily mixed at home.

WOMEN DECIDE ON WAGONS TO ART MUSEUM

Club Federation Votes to Uphold Efforts of City Officials.

SOME ADVOCATE DELAY

Mrs. Ferguson Doubts if Proposed Plan Will Be Satisfactory.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Speaker Makes Plea for Children, "the Hope of the World."

The meeting of the Eighth District of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs ended in a skirmish at 5:30 p. m. Thursday, when "new business" was introduced and the conflict of the question of transportation to the Art Museum was resumed.

Since an early hour in the morning the women had listened attentively and indulgently to the reports of officers and chairmen. Soberness characterized the proceedings until pent-up feminine nature was almost irrepressible. Mrs. G. J. Frankel, who had performed the exacting duties of president with gracious dignity that was a pleasure and pride to every woman in attendance, was obliged to rap repeatedly with her gavel to suppress the murmur of whispering voices which threatened to drown the speakers' voices.

As the darkness was creeping on and the lateness of the hour warned Missouri's most prominent clubwomen of their temporal needs and dinner, the subject of "new business" was proposed. The inevitable had arrived and the conflict between the contending factions for a means of transportation through Forest Park to the Art Museum was on.

Would Co-operate With Officials.

Mrs. Philip N. Moore, Missouri nominee for the presidency of the General Federation, addressed the chair and prefaced her motion by expressing her belief in co-operation with the city officials in matters of civic interest.

"Madam President," Mrs. Moore said, "I move that the women of this meeting vote an indorsement of the proposed plan of Park Commissioner Scanlan to provide park wagons for transportation to the Art Museum."

Mrs. Ferguson, State and district chairman of the Art Committee, was on her feet and proposed an amendment to Mrs. Moore's motion.

"Madam president," Mrs. Ferguson said, "the hour is late and we are all tired out. We are in no condition to give serious consideration to this matter which is of vital importance. I propose give serious consideration to this matter, until we can take time to consider it deliberately. The park wagons do not solve the problem of transportation and we will be sorry if we indorse something which will never fill the requirement."

Mrs. Moore was again on the floor in defense of the motion.

Vote Is for Park Wagons.

"Every woman has had time to consider this matter," Mrs. Moore said, "and if we do not take action at this time nothing can be done for a year. The Mayor and Park Commissioner should be indorsed in their endeavor to assist us in this matter. They are both opposed to a street car line in the park and we should support city authority."

Mrs. Moore's motion was carried by a two-third majority and the opposing faction will await the installation of the promised park wagons with interest and will continue to work for some plan which has not been publicly proposed.

Mrs. A. E. Roten, vice-president of the district; Mrs. Birney Dyson, secretary; Mrs. E. L. Hilleary, treasurer, and Mrs. C. H. Alexander, auditor, were all re-elected for the coming year by unanimous vote.

Every department of club work was discussed during the meeting and by review the advancement which has been made in the past years was noted. The fundamental principle of clubwomen is to better conditions for children primarily and women secondarily.

"The hope of the world is in the children," one of the speakers said in her impassioned appeal for continued work for little men and women.

One report was made which is at variance with the race suicide theory. In Webster Groves, there are more children than can be accommodated in the public schools.

BABES WIN MERCY FOR MOTHER

Mrs. Hipp Refused to Prosecute
Former Friend.

The three babies of Mrs. Kate Kartye, 2300 South Broadway, are all that saved her from prosecution for the theft of a watch and chain. Mary Hipp of 1821 President street, after causing Mrs. Kartye's arrest, listened to the mother's pleading and then asked the police to release her.

Mrs. Hipp, on Oct. 22, reported the theft of a watch and chain from her room at 2319 South Seventh street. Mrs. Kartye was her roommate. Thursday Mrs. Hipp met Mrs. Kartye on the street and observing her missing chain around Mrs. Kartye's neck caused her arrest.

At the Wyoming Street Police Station Mrs. Kartye admitted having stolen the watch and chain. The police went about to apply for a warrant against her, when Mrs. Hipp, after hearing the prisoner's story, decided not to prosecute.

THOUSANDS FLEE FROM QUAKES IN SOUTHERN ITALY

Torrential Rains Threaten the Lives of Those Who Escaped.

POPE HAS SENT AID

It Is Estimated That 500 Perished as Result of Shocks Wednesday.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
ROME, Oct. 25.—Little additional news was received here this morning from the districts of Calabria, which were devastated by earthquake shocks on the evening of Oct. 23. The bad weather continues in the South, and it is feared that many persons are likely to lose their lives from exposure, fear of a repetition of the earthquake preventing them from returning to the villages. Many of the homeless have erected tents or are living under other temporary coverings. A few fresh shocks were experienced yesterday, but no further damage has been reported. The Pope has sent supplies of money to the clergy of Calabria for the relief of their suffering parishioners and has ordered that the churches be kept open day and night for the use of the homeless. In addition to the funds sent by the Pontiff the Government has forwarded $20,000 to the Calabrian authorities for use in the relief work and has taken every other step possible to help the sufferers.

Probably 500 Killed.
It is estimated that the total number of killed is 500. Members of the Red Cross, soldiers and volunteers are busily searching for the dead and rescuing the injured throughout the affected area. Much damage was done at Reggio and Messina, where houses were wrecked. Two walls of the cathedral at Gerace collapsed, buildings fell at Sinopoli burying nine persons. Brancalione is almost entirely in ruins. One village was absolutely ruined. The center of the earthquake appears to have been at Monteleone. It was particularly violent at Ferruzzano, which is in ruins. Several persons are said to have been killed there. A number of houses collapsed at Santilario and five were killed.

Communication Difficult.
It is feared that a quarter of the entire population of Ferruzzano, which was 2000, have perished. Many of the injured inhabitants are still alive in the ruins. Ferruzzano is perched on a hill near the sea. It has no telegraphic communication from the outside world, and the only railroad route, if it can be reached only with great difficulty, which is increased by the ruins. Other suffering villages are similarly isolated. A crevasse several feet wide and nearly a mile long opened near Gerace. A ceaseless rain has flooded the neighboring country, delaying relief and sometimes making it impossible. "The whole population of Catanzaro spent the night in church, where the image of the town's patron saint was exposed.

THIEVES THROW SALT AND PEPPER, THEN ROB CHINESE

Investigation of Theft Develops That Negro Boys Buy Opium of Celestials.

Police investigation of the robbery of Mow Lin, Chinese, in his store at 17 South Eighth street, Thursday night, in which salt and pepper were dashed into Lin's eyes and he was temporarily blinded, developed the fact that small negro boys are in the habit of buying opium in Hop Alley.

Jimmy Burs, 11 years old, of 730 South Fourth street, arrested as a suspect, denied having had anything to do with the robbery, but admitted going to Hop Alley every night to buy opium for his parents. He was sent to the House of Detention to be held for the prosecuting officials.

Joseph Thomas, 13 years old, of 1416 Papin street, another suspect, had a letter in his pocket from Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Falkenhauer. It was addressed to "Joseph Thomas" and stated that complaint had been made against that person. Thomas said he had not done anything wrong. He was also sent to the House of Detention.

Mow Lin was robbed by a negro man and boy who got $3 from the cash register.

WHO KNOWS WHERE BIG REX IS?

Went somebody please bring back Rex?
Elizabeth Siebert, 6 years old, and Teddy Roosevelt Siebert, 4, children of Dr. August Siebert of 2447 South Jefferson avenue, have been crying ever since their pet, a handsome 8-month-old collie, disappeared two weeks ago. Thursday night little Teddy dreamed he was playing with Rex. He was heart-broken when he awoke and found it was only a vision. Dr. Siebert thinks that Rex saved his little girl's life near Alton this summer when it attacked a rattlesnake which was ready to strike the child. The children are so greatly worried that their father fears their health will suffer unless their pet is returned. Rex is a full-blooded collie, 2½ feet high. The top of his head, his "collar," his feet and his tail are white and the body is a reddish brown.

TO STORM HOUSE FOR FREE BRIDGE

Business Men Will Keep Attending Delegates' Meeting Until Action Is Taken.

Several hundred business men will attend the meeting of the House of Delegates at the City Hall Friday night to indicate by their presence their desire to have the free bridge bill passed. At a mass meeting held Thursday night in Northwest Liederkrantz Hall, 3940 Easton avenue, these men pledged themselves through the adoption of a resolution not only to attend the Friday night House meeting, but also to attend every subsequent meeting until some definite action is taken on the bridge bill. The resolution also calls on "all other citizens to do likewise."

The mass meeting, which was held under the auspices of the United Free Bridge Committee, was not entirely harmonious. There were efforts made to secure the endorsement of special sites which did not meet with the approval of the promoters of the assembly. Representatives of North St. Louis interests repeatedly asked recognition that they might lay the claims of Mulanphy street before the meeting. Chouteau avenue were almost equally insistent. The situation at one time reached such a stage that Chairman Arthur B. Barrett declared his patience was being taxed. "If there is going to be a rough house, let the blame rest on those who start it," he declared.

They Demand Action.
The majority of the speakers did not discuss the site question, but confined their remarks to appeals for action. The resolutions finally adopted also took this form, though it was first necessary to eliminate a clause advocating the Chouteau avenue site. The resolutions go so far as to "absolve" the House of Delegates from "all burden of responsibility for the mistake the building of the bridge may involve," provided they act promptly. George Emerson, president of the Twenty-sixth Ward Improvement Association, thought that Henry C. Koenig had not gone too far at a recent meeting of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association in advocating tar and feathers.

for the House of Delegates members. "I say hang them," he concluded. Other speeches were less inflammatory. Congressman Bartholdt spoke of the necessity for prompt action if it was desired to take advantage of the act of Congress permitting the erection of the bridge. He said if the matter was delayed until a new act was needed he would do what he could to obtain its passage. Owen Miller, president of the Central Trades and Labor Union, said 60,000 members of labor organizations in St. Louis wanted a free bridge, but were not advocating any particular site.

TO SUE 2,000,000 ACRES

Government Declares Southern Pacific Got Land Illegally.
By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Attorney-General Bonaparte has decided to bring suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad to recover 2,000,000 acres of land which that road is charged with having acquired illegally. Tracy G. Becker of Buffalo has been employed by the Department of Justice as special counsel to direct the prosecution.

These lands were acquired by the Southern Pacific from an Oregon railroad. The lands are located in Oregon.

Again a Word to the Intelligent Doubter:

It seems to you extremely unlikely that anybody could possibly make good completely—on the daring claims made in our advertising.

You simply don't believe that men's garments, as good in every respect as the best tailor's best, CAN be made and offered ready for you to put on.

We don't blame you. Your doubt is an intelligent one. If you were to be too easily convinced, your ultimate approbation would be worth much less to us.

The class of men who—in rapidly increasing numbers—cleave to the Ready for Use Tailoring from the house of

Werner & Werner

are not easily led. Their natural prejudices in favor of the custom tailor have yielded only to the proven facts in our case—yielded only when they "saw the goods."

Some of the staunchest of our present patrons were at first the most vigorous of doubters.

They are now converts to Werner & Werner garments. They have found that they can get—ready for use—tailoring that is of the highest class in the strictest and most complete sense.

Our personal service did not do it; it merely brought them to this house.

The garments did it—proved their own case—won their men—as soon as they were able to induce a careful inspection.

It will be the same with you.

The best—unquestionably the finest—garments ever evolved are offered exclusively by this establishment and reasonably priced at $15, $18, $20, $25 and on up to $60.

Unlocking Man's Powers

It would be a great thing to know how to double one's earning power with no increase of work, to enjoy the world twice as much with no more sacrifice than at present, to find happiness one-half as easy of attainment with no more real effort.

We work hard and accomplish little; even from play we get only a part of the enjoyment to be had—all because we do not understand ourselves. There are keys which unlock hidden energies of which we do not know, just as there are keys yet undiscovered to great inventions.

In the November number of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE, Prof. William James, of Harvard, has written a remarkable article—"The Powers of Men"—telling a great deal about these keys which open the treasure-houses of human possibilities, and each one of us has his own treasure house and his own set of keys. It is one of the most worth-while articles of the year.

We do not mention any of the other articles or stories, because the price of the magazine is insignificant when we consider that this contribution alone is invaluable to every aspiring reader, man or woman. It is an article which will enrich many lives.

.....Look at it. It is on the newsstands today.....

GIRL AGAINST MOTHER IN THE
RUTLEDGE SUITDaughter Admits She Let Parent Do Servant's Work Unassisted.

FATHER IS WEALTHY

Wife Says Husband Gave Her but $15 in Three Years for Clothes.

James E. Rutledge, who admits that he is worth $100,000, gave his wife, Mrs. Mary Rutledge, only $15 for clothes in three years, according to testimony of Mrs. Rutledge in Judge Foster's court. She is asking the Judge to make her husband give her $500 so that she can replenish her wardrobe, which has become so depleted, she says, that she has nothing fit to wear to church.

Mrs. Rutledge was plainly but tastefully attired in court in a dark skirt and white shirt waist and a fall-shape hat.

Mr. Rutledge says he gave his wife money whenever she asked for it. Mrs. Rutledge says she would not humiliate herself by asking for money because her husband would not speak to her.

Mr. Rutledge is suing for divorce, alleging that Mrs. Rutledge was jealous of him without cause and that she had a violent temper. The case came up Thursday on a motion for temporary alimony and suit counsel fee. In addition to the $500 for clothes, she asks for $268 for coal and other things, household supplies, a monthly allowance of $100 and $1000 for attorney fees. Mr. Rutledge has lately been sending his wife $50 a month. She says this is not enough to run the 10-room home in which she lives at 2832 Russell avenue.

Lived as Strangers.
For three years prior to July 23, 1907, Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge lived in separate apartments in that house and seldom had any communication with each other. Their 15-year-old son, Walter, lives there still with Mrs. Rutledge. Their 19-year-old daughter, Hattie, is supported elsewhere by Mr. Rutledge. She is estranged from her mother.

The girl was sitting in court Thursday when her mother entered. They had not met since August. Mrs. Rutledge started toward Hattie with an eager greeting. She was stopped by a friend, "good morning," unaccompanied by a smile or inclination of the head.

When Miss Rutledge was called to the stand in behalf of her father, she did not look at her mother. She said she had spent last winter at a Massachusetts boarding school. She was asked if her mother kept a servant before the separation. She said her mother did the work.

"She wanted me to help her," the girl said, "but I refused. I told her that she ought to get a servant. She did advertise for one, but the girls who came wanted $15 or $20, without washing and ironing and she said she would not hire a girl unless she would do the washing and ironing."

Did your mother do the washing and ironing?" asked Judge Foster.

"Part of the time, when she couldn't get anybody."

"And when she asked you to help, you declined?"

Miss Rutledge cast her eyes down. "Not always," she said.

The attorney for Mr. Rutledge asked her how many winter suits her mother had been accustomed to purchase. She said that her mother usually made one suit last three or four years, as she did not go out very often.

Mrs. Rutledge, who had preceded her daughter on the stand, said that it was last fall that her husband gave her the

MRS. MARY RUTLEDGE.

$15. "I told him that I needed some clothing," she said. "He gave me $15 and asked me if that was enough. I felt so hurt that I said yes, that would do. I bought a coat with it."

Saved Pay of Servant.
She was asked if she did not have money deposited with a trust company. She said she had at one time $150, which she had saved by doing a servant's work, but that she used it to buy things for the house.

Asked if she did not go into society, she said that she did when she felt like it and was well enough, but that at the present time she did not have clothes sufficient to even go to church.

She said that during the time that her husband lived at home he demanded that she render an itemized account of household expenses. She refused.

"I was his wife," she said, "and as long as I was his wife it was not my duty to render itemized accounts to him."

"Why didn't you ask him for more money for clothes?" she was asked.

Refused to Be Humiliated.
"I would not so humiliate myself," she said.

"Is it a humiliation for a wife to ask her husband for clothes?"

"Yes, when a man goes and comes as he did, not speaking to me for three weeks at a time."

She said that among other things she needed three winter suits.

Her husband was asked if she had ever bought three suits in one winter when they were living together. "I never paid any attention," he said. "She might have bought six if she had wanted to."

Rutledge is president of the Rutledge Taylor Coal Co. His wife says he is worth from $250,000 to $300,000. Asked about it, he said he had taken the pains to have his bookkeeper look the matter up and that person had told him that he was worth $100,000.

During all the time that they were in court the eyes of Mrs. Rutledge wandered constantly to the face of her husband, but he paid no attention to her.

Mrs. Rutledge has filed a motion asking that her husband be required to make his petition more definite by naming a cousin of whom he says Mrs. Rutledge was jealous and by naming other persons in whose presence she is alleged to have manifested jealousy.

Judge Foster took the alimony matter under advisement.

DASHES FROM FIRE
WITH HER CHILDRENFerguson Woman Leads One and Carries Another in Escape
Down Stairway.

With her year-old baby in her arms and leading another little child, aged 3, Mrs. M. Soule, wife of a Ferguson tailor, dashed down a flame-swept stairway to the open air, when the building in which her husband's shop and their home was located burned at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

None of them was hurt or suffered any evil effects from their rush through the fire.

Soule lighted a gasoline stove and walked out of the building for a moment. When he returned the shop was a mass of flame. His family had already reached a place of safety. An alarm was turned in and Soule entered the building with the firemen to aid in saving some of his property. He and Fireman John Elford touched a live wire and were knocked down, but not seriously hurt.

Five hundred dollars' worth of cloth, 25 suits of clothes, left to be cleaned and pressed, and two sewing machines were burned.

HEARING IN DALEY ROW, NOV. 3
Court Will Then Hear Petition of Flynn, Bilhartz and Clooney.

Hearing in the cases of the three members of the Democratic Central Committee who were recently ousted by the Daley faction was set for Nov. 3 by the Supreme Court at Jefferson City Friday.

W. J. Flynn, Charles Bilhartz and

John Clooney, the petitioners, alleged were ousted for insufficient cause. The Court, in the case of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, against State Insurance Commissioner Vandiver, instructed the defendant to show cause on Dec. 2 why an order should not be issued to compel him to grant a license to the petitioners. The commission refused to renew the organization's license, on the ground that an endorsement policy which it writes is in violation of the law.

ROOSEVELT WILL LET NEW YORK TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

Prepared Statement Scorching Fusion, but Friends Got Him to Suppress It.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt intends to take no part in the approaching municipal campaign in Greater New York. He means to permit the Republican-Heard fusion to stand without giving it that vigorous denunciation which would somewhat relieve his feelings; he may even refrain from scolding Herbert Parsons for permitting the alliance, which he regards as worse than unwholesome. He came to all three determinations with regret.

For the first time since becoming President, Mr. Roosevelt came near departing from his invariable practice of allowing municipal campaigns to be conducted without his interference. The Republican-Heard fusion aroused him to such anger and indignation that, despite this rule, which he has never broken, he arose this morning determined to issue a statement giving his free and unbiased views on the subject. Acting on this impulse he prepared a statement which was not only vivid but scorching. He read this document to some chosen friends, and each advised him to restrain his anger and throw it in the fire. He yielded to this advice and tore the statement into thin strips.

DAVIS SHOULD FIGHT OR RESIGN.

The member of the House of Delegates from the Twenty-eighth Ward has been appointed delegate also to the National Municipal League soon to meet at Providence, R. I., where he is down for a speech on a phase of civic improvement.

Delegate Davis is offered a much better opportunity to make himself heard far and wide on a civic question of grave importance in the St. Louis body to which he was elected, where he is set off against a corrupt combine that challenges all the best there is in a stanch and sterling champion of public welfare.

There is only one capacity in which a young man of Mr. Davis' avowed high civic purpose can afford to remain in a body deeply involved in scandal—and that is as a fighter.

Otherwise he should repudiate the House of Delegates as unfit for decent membership by resigning in a manner that will characterize and condemn its corruption before the community.

This might prove the more congenial course—though there should be nothing commonplace about such a resignation. It ought to be made memorable and convincing, to leave a lasting public impression, in any event.

But it is better to fight than resign, and a high order of courage representing the only hope of citizenship would rather stand to the last hour fighting overwhelming odds than quit the field before corruption. Let the worst come to the worst, it is better always to preserve the fighting contrast.

It was upon the platform of contrast that Mr. Davis procured his election, and it is high time that he loudly signalizes his stand in a situation offering exceptional opportunity to a promising aspirant for public favor.

LET HIM STALK A MALEFACTOR.

En route to Washington after concluding his 24 days of hunting big game, President Roosevelt reiterated that he would continue to hunt great malefactors.

Instead of hunting them as he hunted bears, with a brass band, an army corps and a regiment of noisy hounds, what an excellent thing it would be if he would devote, say 24 days, to the actual, quiet, sure pursuit of a malefactor.

Not only would this be a grateful relief from the unnecessary and disturbing noise, but it would help to restore confidence if a real malefactor happened to be caught and "eliminated."

THE CONQUEST OF THE AIR.

Aeronautics might make some substantial progress by demonstrating the stability of certain great air currents, or even of steady channels at certain seasons. To the optimistic fancy a secure eastward passage is suggested by the fact that all of the balloons loosed from St. Louis on Monday pursued approximately that course.

The aeronauts obliged to descend at the seaboard perhaps regret that the start had not been made, under the same conditions, further westward, giving the chance for longer records. The only one of them who stood in a fair way to surpass all previous flights was Maj. Hersey, who was carried north on a tangent into Canada.

It is stimulating to conjecture that the developed meteorology of some future day may supply an accurate knowledge of the branching of the winds responsible for that divergence—a point on a complete chart of the winds.

For the present, aerial navigation will find its only real value as an adjunct and developer of meteorology; but who shall explore or set a limit to the possibilities of such exploration?

Experiment here invades, as it were, the realm of dreams, but in every other sphere of the unknown in which science has eventually achieved supremacy there has been little more hope than there is for conquest of the air.

President Diaz is going to abolish bull fighting in Mexico and open up a string of theaters as a moral substitute, which means that Klav and Edganger will shake the mothballs out of the costumes and stage settings of such antiquities as "Sapho," "Iris" and "The Black Crook," in which a good deal of idle capital is invested.

Now that the Attorney-General of Minnesota, who has been fined $100 for disregarding an injunction by a Federal Court, has appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States, we are likely soon to get something authentic on the subject of government by injunction.

The insolvency of the Barnum and Bailey show revealed the fact that it was owned in Great Britain. Fifty years ago an American circus owned in Great Britain would have gone into the hands of the Sheriff in a week.

Wall street could "eliminate" Harriman, it would feel better right away.

Finance's troubles are functional and not organic.

MR. SAGER'S THIRD YEAR.

Circuit Attorney Sager is nearing the end of the third year of his term of office. What has he accomplished? What has he done to justify the popular confidence that was reposed in him?

Succeeding in place a man so energetic and successful as Mr. Folk, the present incumbent had an example and inspiration which should have been of value to him. Was there ever a more striking contrast between official vigor and competency and official inertia and failure?

Judging by surface appearances, conditions in St. Louis at this time are quite as favorable for a record-making Circuit Attorney as they were when Mr. Folk established his reputation. To what extent has Mr. Sager improved his opportunity?

Much depends upon a public prosecutor. One who is persevering, able, zealous and uncompromising may become a bulwark of society and a terror to evildoers. One who makes of his position only a matter of easy routine, who is half-hearted and timid and perhaps indifferent, is shockingly deficient in all the qualities which should be found in him.

The people of this town have waited patiently for Mr. Sager to arrive. They will not remain supine and silent much longer. They have a right to demand action on his part. They have a right to insist upon energy and enthusiasm in the performance of his duties. They have a right to complain because he has made few attempts to bring great offenders to justice and because, even in these feeble efforts, he has too readily succumbed to obstacles by no means insuperable.

From sources wholly outside of his own office Mr. Sager has been placed in possession of strong evidence of official corruption in the House of Delegates. What use will he make of it? To what extent will he pursue the inquiry? With what devotion and courage and ability will he hunt down the public derelicts already clearly enough indicated to him?

Earnest effort, even when unsuccessful, rarely misses applause and reward. Earnestness is what is needed in the Circuit Attorney's office today. Earnestness there must be, or the judgment which will be passed upon its present incumbent will be unsparing and continuing.

Gov. Folk is hunting squirrels in the tall timbers of Gen. Lee's farm with indifferent success. But if he would aim up at the United States senatorship he might prove as great a hunter as Davy Crockett.

The financial sea is not likely to become perfectly easy until the big Jonah is cast overboard.

Say, I'm mad. I sent a dollar to New York the other day for four bottles of wine vinegar of a sort I like. They came yesterday and the express charge was $1.20. A Lunar Bow.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I noticed not long ago an article in your paper in regard to a lunar bow at midnight. I think it is a rare thing to see a bow after 8 p. m. I saw one at about 9:30 p. m. once. It was in New York State, Livingston County, town of York. It must have been in 1888 or 1889. I remember so well how it looked, but being only a child, I did not realize the importance of it as I would now. I was preparing for bed and happened to glance out of the window when I saw as bright a bow as ever I had seen in my life. I ran to my grandparents' room, crying, "Grandpa, grandpa, come and see the rainbow!" He said, "Where, child, where?" I said, "Come with me and I will show you." When he looked at it he said, "This is the second one I have seen. I saw one in Scotland when I was a boy." At that time he was about 70 or 71 years of age. He had come to this country when he was 15 years of age, so that would make it about fifty-three years difference in the time in which he had seen them. I remember the moon was shining brightly and there was a very heavy dew. The next year a cousin of mine saw one, between 10 and 11 o'clock.

The Black Rule.

From the Fort Worth Telegram.
One of the sad things that comes into the life of every newspaper exchange editor is to pick up a paper and find columns rules on some page turned upside down, making a heavy black border for type. He knows that it means some member of the staff on the paper is dead, and he anxiously scans the column to see what old friend has joined the members of the craft who have gone before. After reading the column carefully and finding to find any obituary news, he turns over to the last page and, tucked away under a patent medicine ad, reads: "Our foreman was drunk this week and the paper was made up by his assistant, sometimes known as the galley-boy."

Refused Appropriation.

From the Evansville (Ind.) News-Journal.
There is nothing wrong with the average Hoosier as history and fact always prove. Gov. Hanly's report to the State Auditor showing the money expended for aid of those who suffered losses in the flood in Southern Indiana last winter discloses the fact that several of the counties patriotically decided to set along without financial aid from the State and returned all the money which had been drawn for them.

Energy Going to Waste.

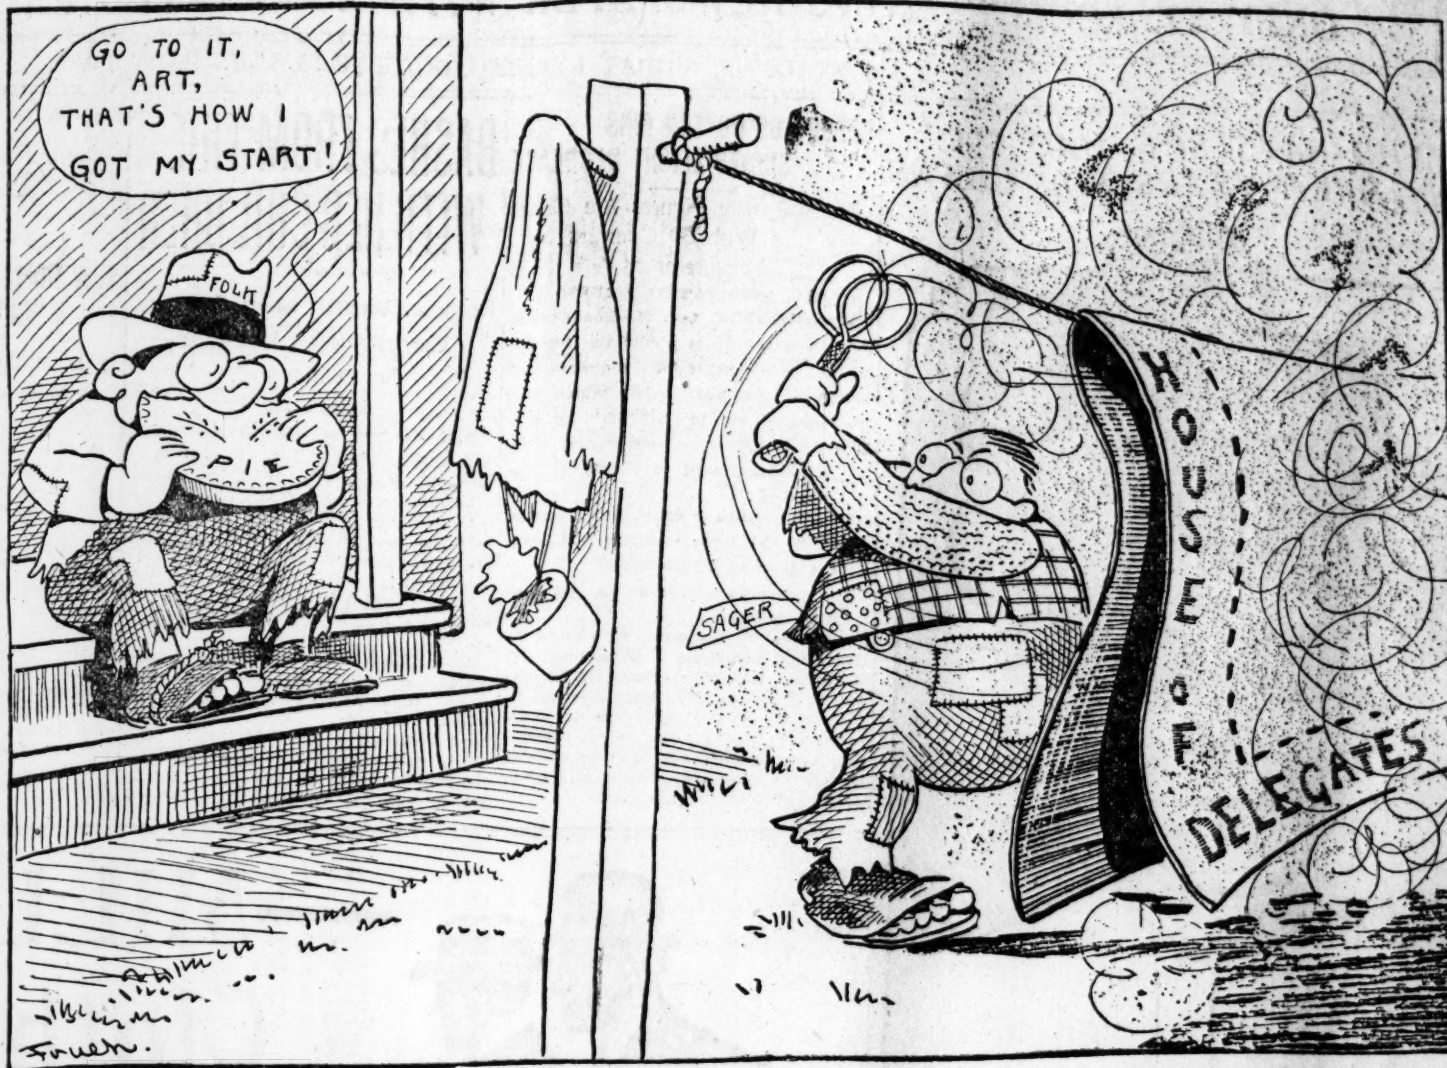

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.
There is too much lost energy in the world. If the force expended by college students in rushes, class fights, and football games were harnessed and properly applied, it would serve to light and heat the college buildings.

POSTHUMOUS.

WASHINGTON—More than a year ago the Smithsonian Institution received as a gift from the German Government a number of phonograph records carrying the Kaiser's voice. The gift was made with a request that the records remain unused until the Kaiser's death, when the institution would be at liberty to make them public.

This struck President Roosevelt as being a very good idea. He had often mourned that so little remains of great men, even those of comparatively recent time, and wondered that they had consented to depart from earthly scenes with so little consideration for the natural and reasonable curiosity of posterity.

The Kaiser's scheme led him to resolve upon something similar in his own case. He did not care too closely to imitate his royal contemporary, so he sought to hit upon something by which he could be perpetuated as effectively as it could be done with phonograph records.

It will gratify the President's friends, and interest his enemies, to know that he has succeeded in his quest, and that there has just been placed in the Smithsonian a moving picture film which shows Theodore Roosevelt killing a bear.

It was known to only a few persons that the President had a cinematograph operator with him on his recent hunt. The film obtained when he got his bear is perfect, and Mr. Roosevelt is delighted with it. It opens the combat where the dogs have brought the bear to bay, and the President is coming up on the jump. It ends with the bear's head down and Mr. Roosevelt proudly standing with one foot on her neck, showing his teeth. The intermediate action is spirited and exciting, and a good deal of brush is flying. The film will dare deny Alton the thrill of holding it high in air.

The Pommern's great victory is not luck. It got started right. It passed over Alton. The eight other balloons failed to do so, and now they are quarreling over the small prizes and explaining to the various clubs and countries they represented.

Ruggles Hollow, which McCoy and Chandler hit with a brick, was in a message somewhere over in Indiana, sounds like the third act in a melodrama by Lincoln J. Carter.

CLARK McADAMS.

EAGLE OR AEPYORNIS?

There was a time when these things were of no importance, but the so-called eagle upon our silver money is now a mortal offense.

The national bird of our great republic is a fine-looking bird, with Greek lines and Gothic tail feathers. It in no wise resembles the bow-legged aepyornis upon our money. It is, in truth, a beautiful creature which depicts itself with dignity and decorum. It never does the wiggling dance affected by the scare-crow on our silver coins. Its favorite pastime is flying under the cerulean skies; not cake walking, as we are urged to suppose by the ludicrous dodo designed by the nature fakery of the United States mints.

A good financial eagle is one of the crying needs of this nation. The buzzard-faced chicken hawk which has been masquerading in the guise of a better bird upon our silver pieces, is an annoyance to every lover of money and honor. Not even Noah ever saw a bird like it and the terrible parody of paleozoic time would have fled from its approach. It is a dragon, a relic of barbarism, a fetish of superstition, and a nature fake.

WHY THE POMMERN WON.

One aeronautical expert at Alton called the turn on the big balloon race. The day after the start, he wired in: "The Pommern will win the race. It alone passed over Alton."

This seemed trivial at the time, but events have proven it to have been founded upon sound meteorology. The Pommern has won the race, any way we can measure it.

We congratulate Alton. Its importance to aeronautics has been known to few, but now everybody knows it. In future, no racing balloon out of St. Louis will dare deny Alton the thrill of holding it high in air.

The Pommern's great victory is not luck. It got started right. It passed over Alton. The eight other balloons failed to do so, and now they are quarreling over the small prizes and explaining to the various clubs and countries they represented.

CLARK McADAMS.

WORD REVERSAL.

From the Louisville Herald.

It would appear as though a revision of popular phraseology will soon become necessary. The opening of the great balloon and flying-machine contests at St. Louis yesterday suggests that the time is near when expressions of metaphorical significance will come to have uses as terms of reality.

For example, there is the aptly humorous designation of a preached as a "sky pilot," which we owe to the picturesque language of the West. If the present progress in aeronautics is maintained we may be speaking literally of sky pilots as navigators of the atmosphere before many months have elapsed.

Then there is the phrase "up in the air," which has colloquially stood for a condition of mind in which the victim has "lost his bearings," to drop into metaphor again, this time nautical. With the coming of the flying machine the expression will have legitimate use to describe an actual experience. "Throwing sand in the eyes of the public" is likely to gain a new significance of a realistic nature, as the dropping of ballast from balloons becomes more prevalent. The "right" of the enemy, or the abounding cashier may cease to be a vigorous metaphor, and the possession of wings will no longer stand as characteristic of the angel.

COMEDY BY FREIGHT.

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat.
Owing to the levee strike and the inability of the Southern Pacific Morgan Line Steamship Co. to deliver freight that has been in port for eight days, the Times-Democrat can not supply its St. Louis readers today with their weekly installment of Little Nemo, Buster Brown, and the rest of the comic section favorites. The steamship company places the blame upon the strike.

SNOKEVILE DEVICES.

From the Washington Post.
Pittsburg is going to try the experiment of feeding its typhoid germs to sunfish. After that it should try cutting up its atmosphere into chunks and using it for fuel in the City Hall.

BUT LOOK, WHO'S HERE

From the Chicago Post.
St. Louis is very proud of its balloon race, but it should not forget that all the aeronauts will look down on the city.

WHEN "POP" STRUCK OUT.

From the New York Press.
The little chap who was dancing up and down beside his mother at the ball game showed an unusual knowledge of the game for a boy so small, and he attracted the attention of every person around.

"I guess he'll walk," he'd say judiciously, when three balls had been called, and the crowd listened with wonder at such talk from a boy of only six.
"Safe, safe," he'd yell, before any of the men around him could open their mouths, and the crowd's wonder increased until it developed that he was the son of one of the players on the opposing team.

"Which man is his father?" everyone wondered, when the little fellow yelled suddenly as a man went in to bat.
"There, there is, mamma," said watch pop strike out." In vain his mother tried to hush him, but the little man continued to talk knowingly: "Now watch pop strike out."

The crowd watched eagerly and as "one strike" and then "two strikes" were called, he laughed uproariously while mamma's face grew redder and redder. When the third strike was called the little chap's voice rang out triumphantly: "I knew pop would strike out," and while the crowd looked with glee mamma discovered it was time to take him home.

A HIGH CRIME.

Julia Schmidt, 14 Brühlstrasse, Hies."

THE WHISK-BROOM.

C. H. White in Harper's.
You may think you have been whisked, but the best of our bootblacks and barbers assistants merely brush your trousers from the knee down, with a few conventional, cold movements, and a perfunctory pass at your collar. Their whisking is at best a calculating, soulless business proposition. But in Charleston all this is changed. To be sure, your negro begins brushing you with a sordid old tip-in-view, but the moment he begins a prelude with his whisk on your coat lapels, his work, like that of the artist, becomes the labor of love. He loses sight of its commercial possibilities in its technical resources. In his hands it is manipulated until it becomes a vehicle of expression and takes its place among the instruments of percussion.

If you show even a moderate interest in the skill with which the colored apprentice drums the dust out of your clothing, the proprietor will leave his customer with his face buried beneath a sea of suds, snatch the whisk away from the boy with a "Go 'way chile," and reveal the possibilities of the implement. Your collaborator will be approached with a capricious movement that will soon shape itself into an altogether non troppo as he reaches your shoulders. In the variegated rhythms that follow in quick succession you unconsciously formulate well-remembered airs. As he reached my ribs, for an instant he was agitated, and I thought I traced Schumann's delightful "I'll never complain"—only for a moment, for he had shifted to elaborate double syncopations. This time the tempo was unmistakable—"I don't care if you never come back"—but doubtless realizing the inappropriateness of the selection, he drifted gracefully into a delirious and exquisite bit of rag time, drumming as he whistled in a faint pianissimo. "Every hit helps," softly hissing the melody after the manner of a groom when he uses the curry comb on a horse.

We have been trying to locate the new blind tiger in this county for several weeks, and finally we hit on a way to get it. We offered a year's subscription to any of our readers who would find it first. The Bitter, the brother of Squire Smith Bitters, is the winner. Tad was in bright and early the next morning, and in about an hour we had verified his report. We won't say just where it is, but the licker is good, and it is in the direction of Bull Grass.

UNTIMELY TRUTHFULNESS.

Woman's Concealment of Her Age Defended by a Post-Dispatch Writer.

By NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

A WOMAN told her right age in court last week and the Judge, who had considered sending her to a reformatory, gave her a prison sentence instead. "That's what a woman gets for telling her age," said the disgruntled trier.

Certainly, the main pleasure and reward of truth-telling is in the consciousness of originality it confers on the teller. If truth pays any dividends at all they are deferred till a better world, so it has to be loved for its own sake, not for any benefit to be derived from it. Whenever a woman fibs about her age that Angel of the Record, whose first fear was dropped to blot out the white lie of a nun in Hugo's "Les Misérables" shields another with similarly effacing purpose and result.

There are certain times and occasions when to tell the truth marks one as either imbecile or boorish. For instance, when a man shows us the portrait of his cross-eyed fiancée and asks us rapturously if she is not the most beautiful woman we have ever seen. Or when a woman calls our attention to her new fall hat, which, having been shopping the week before, we recognize as one we tried on our own head, priced at $11.75, and asks if it is not the cheapest thing we have ever heard of—"an imported model for only $38"—or when anyone, man or woman, asks us to guess how old he or she is; or when a girl invokes our expert advice as to whether or not "he" really loves her. These are only a very few of many instances wherein only the foolish or the unkind drag their real opinions from their secret lair.

Some persons are born truthful, others acquire the habit of truth telling by getting lost in the mazes built by a single lie, which necessitates the telling of a hundred others before it has run its course.

Not long ago I had occasion to suggest to a woman with an aggravated case of veracity that she tell a very small white lie that would have smoothed the course of true love very much. She declined, and I forthwith reminded her of a much earlier time, of which she had told me, when the truth and she had not been so inseparable.

"Yes," she admitted, "but I learned then that I was such a bad liar that I have stuck to the truth ever since."

And there are not a few other converts of this kind.

BROMIDES I HAVE MET.

Dr. Chuf Expounds Twin Verbal Nuisances for the Post-Dispatch.

NO. 4—"PACKED IN LIKE SARDINES" AND "ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE."

THESE phrases are the twin Dromios of canned conversation on public conveyances. When you hear one, you know the other is to follow. When you have heard both, you cease to wonder at the melancholy, resigned look of some street car conductors.

These brother bromides are commonly associated with street car travel. But they are far older than the street car. The street car is a modern power. Noah originated the first during an inspection of the Ark; the second, in hieroglyphics, has been found inscribed beside the path of ancient camel routes to the Pyramids of Egypt.

The first is the note of pessimism, the second of optimism. Together they sound a dismal chord of flaccid and thoughtless commonplaces.

There is not always room for one more; but there is always someone to say so. If "there ought to be a law" be not a bromide, then I say there ought to be one requiring the man who utters this phrase to give up his place, when necessary, to make the "room" which he declares to be perpetual.

WHY ARE MEN LESS COURTEOUS

Than in Grandmother's Day? A Discussion by Post-Dispatch Readers. Prize Awards in the Next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

I THINK that the reason man is less courteous to women now than in our grandmother's day, is because women are less courteous to men and less dependent on them. The women of today are more independent and make men realize that fact, and they also give them to understand that they consider themselves as equals. They do not regard men as their lords and masters, as our grandmothers did, and regard him only as a well, as a man.

MISS ALICE JEWETT,
3220 Easton avenue.

First, men are not taught in boyhood to show courtesy to their mothers and sisters, as in the days of auld lang syne. Second, there are too many slangy phrases used by the women of today. Third, men are less courteous because women stand more on an equal and demand less gallantry than in the days of our grandmothers.

Well-bred men of today are not discourteous. "Tis true many of the superficial courtesies of the past have been dropped. They were artificial, insincere and savored of flattery. Woman in those days was considered more or less as a toy or pet, something to be coddled, humored or adored. The businesslike, sensible, independent woman of today considers herself as an equal, no more, no less, and she wouldn't for one moment tolerate the one hundred and one foolish little courtesies practiced in the days of Louis XIV. Man, on the other hand, acknowledges her equality, admires her for her dignity, and bestows upon her only those genuine, sincere attentions determined by good breeding that quality which always marks the true gentleman.

MRS. J. J. KIRWAN,
Gratiot, Wis.

The "days of old, when knights were bold," have passed. Then Mistress Nancy was so very shy and modest, so dependent on Sir Knight, that she could not be otherwise than attentive and courteous if he wished to retain her good graces. Now, however, times have changed. Our young lady of the present day thanks Mr. Knight that she needs none of his help whatever. She is entirely capable of caring for herself and her interests. She is no longer a "thing of beauty" and refinement altogether, but a thoughtful, pushing, successful business woman. What would a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value. During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures all those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair-minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with organic disorders, weakness, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them. Write for them. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

men our principal object in life. We have become the companion of man, petted and humored, but still to be regarded as man's inferior. This very independence and originality is what gives to the American girl her chief charm.

MRS. CHARLES SNYDER.
Gratiot City, Ill.

The mothers nowadays lower their own standards by making slaves of themselves constantly waiting on their sons, instead of teaching them to honor and obey and be independent and self-reliant. Thus they grow to manhood, losing sight of the chivalrous respect and honor that is due their mothers, and as they treat them, so they are apt to treat all other women. God intends woman to be the glory of man, a helpmeet, and not a help-out, and drudge, as too many are. In olden times boys were taught that none on earth was as good as mother, hence the difference between then and now. Read what Mrs. J. P. S., first prize, this week says of her husband.

MRS. E. S.
290 Ormer street, Carthage, Mo.

The question with us is, Are they? Are they not just as obliging at home as they are always been? And when away from home isn't it invariably, "After you, Miss Gaston?" The only difference that I can see between now and then is in the street car, and that dates from the time they discarded the two long seats that used to run from one end of the car to the other. Then a Post-Dispatch reader could not hide his good manners behind the paper and would be forced to say, "Have a seat, lady!" while now he can read to his heart's content, seemingly oblivious of any lady standing. Charge it to the street car company—they can shift the responsibility by selling out.

A. S. McHENRY, 437 Juniata street.

Since our grandmother's day, the new woman has appeared. She asserts her mental equality with her brother. She asserts and proves her ability to take care of herself. At first the men were shocked, then resentful; now they watch with apparent unconcern as she does for herself what in former times her brother did for her. It seems to be the sentiment among men that woman, having invaded places and calling hitherto sacred to her brother, she must expect only the same courtesy shown to him. And she is content.

MRS. H. S. CAMPBELL,
Macon, Mo.

The women of today do not command the courtesy and respect of men by a modest, feminine manner, as did our grandmothers, but instead of their ambition being to learn the duties of a loving sister, wife or mother he must attend to the things of household and seeking after the knowledge of the pure and ennobling, they today seek to be mannish and wholly unfeminine.

MRS. ADDIE CONNER,
221 Grace st. Hannibal, Mo.

The writer thinks it is the result of propinquity and the growing independence of women. In the days when grandmother reigned, men and women did not come in such close contact with one another as is the case today; they were separated by environment—she being in the home, he facing the battle of every-day existence. Now, social conditions are different. Without going into detail, suffice it to say, man no longer grapples this battle alone, but woman, too, finds it necessary to do likewise; hence, the business woman, propinquity—the cause of it all. There is scarce a field in which you find the

HOPES TO CLEAR $9000

Heavyweight Champion, by

Johnson on Return.

BY ROBERT EDGREN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Tommy Burns has left for England aboard the Deutschland. He has signed for a fight with Gunner Moir. The articles call for 20 rounds before the National Sporting Club of London for a purse of $5000, of which $4000 is to go to the winner, and also a side bet of $2500, and $1000 expense allowances for Burns.

This purse is the smallest Burns has fought for in a year or two.

"I'll clear up about $9000 on the trip," said Tommy. "We were sitting at a table in the Metropole, and Tommy had before him a huge cut of roast beef, rare. Tommy isn't a vegetarian."

"You will if—," I suggested.

Burns' pale face settled into that grim look that comes over it in the ring. He showed his jaw forward doggedly.

"No 'if' about it," he declared. "I'll whip Moir sure."

"Do you know anything about him?"

"Nothing at all, except what I have been told today by three or four people who have seen him fight. One told me he weighs 210 pounds, and another told me he weighs 220 and is as husky as Jeffries."

"Harvey's table of English fighters," I said, "told me that Moir weighs between 180 and 185."

"It doesn't make much difference," said Burns.

Johnson Is Next.

"When I come back," Tommy went on, "the first man I fight in America will be Johnson. I haven't much regard for him. He is big, but he isn't as big as the looks. I stood near him once and sized him up carefully. He has a big head and big hands, and his feet on long, thin legs. That's what makes him look big. His body isn't strong, and I'm satisfied he has a yellow streak. He met me in a room in Paris when the Squires match was being arranged. The room was full of newspaper men. Johnson challenged me and offered to make a $10,000 side bet. I said, 'I'll take you.' Put up," Johnson said he did not carry as much as that around with him, but he'd post $50 in cash and forfeit it if he didn't post the rest the next day. He handed a roll of bills to a stakeholder. I sat right down and wrote out a check to cover my end of the bet and Johnson grabbed his money from the stakeholder's hand and shoved it into his pocket. He was only four years old. I'll give Johnson a fight, but on his own terms. Gans demanded and I gave him 10 per cent with Menele, Jim, Jose and I won't be that hard on Johnson. I'll get mine."

Oh, said Burns, "Flynn is a tough fellow, but he only weighs about 175. Johnson ought to win in six rounds. Flynn lasted 15 with me, but I could whip him in six now."

"How will you fight Moir?"

"Now, that's a thing I don't know anything about yet," Tommy replied. "I plan my fights ahead when I know something about a man, but even then they don't always come out the way I expect them to. I had a fine line on Squires. I had people who studied him and told me all about his movements. Then I had the moving pictures of Squires boxing with Britt. So I made a study of his style. I intended to box carefully for three rounds before cutting loose."

Squires Did Hit Him.

"When the fight started I fainted rapidly three times in quick succession. Twice Squires guard came up with the first. The third time it stayed down. I fainted the same way again, and as his guard dropped after the second faint I shot the right over as hard as I could drive it. He went down. When he got up I thought he was easy and started after him. He plugged me once on the jaw with the right and I couldn't see. I fell in and held for my life until my head cleared."

"Yes," broke in Billy Neal of Oakland, who is with Burns on the trip, "that was a close squeak. I saw your eyes roll up until only the whites showed, and I thought your goose was cooked."

"Was stung, all right," Burns went on, "but I always come back quickly. I held on to Squires and kept asking him why he did not break. As soon as I was all right I broke away, fainted and plugged him with the right again. The third time he went out cold. He saw it isn't 'touch use' to keep on you when you are going to fight, until you get into the ring. I'm surely going to whip Moir, and I will do it as fast as I can. But I hardly expect to be as lucky as I was with Squires again. It's hard to knock any man out in a round."

Tommy had assimilated the rest, a plate of potatoes and a few rolls while telling this. I remarked that his railway accident had not sprained his appetite.

Old Chicago Ball Player Wants
Chance at Three-Cushion
Billiard Honors.

Adrian C. Anson of the old Chicago White Sox, and one of the best-known baseball men in the country, sent in his entry Friday morning for the world's championship three-cushion billiard tournament, to be held at the Rex, Royal, Grand and Fine billiard halls here, starting about Nov. 9.

Fred Kames of Denver, who, until he moved West held the three-cushion billiard championship of the New England states, also entered Friday morning.

Reserved for the Finals.

It is hardly likely either player will be asked to compete in the preliminary or qualifying tournament, which will be started on Nov. 2.

Arthur Jeffite, who is promoting the tournament, received both entries by telegraph. Anson is the proprietor of a billiard room in Chicago, and is a first-class player. He may not be able to win the championship against such stars as Jevne, Horgan, De Oro and Daly, but he will give any of them a stiff game. Games have a national reputation as a three-cushion expert. He is the proprietor of a billiard room at Denver, and is expected to be in good form for the tournament.

Foreigners Not Heard From.

Jeffite expects to receive a reply from Marva and some of the other foreign players to whom he has sent cablegrams inviting them to compete in the tournament and offering to pay their expenses if they wish to play. Jordan W. Lambert, the St. Louis amateur three-cushion player, has donated the valuable diamond emblem to go to the winner, while the cash prizes to be awarded will figure up to $1000.

SMITH BATTLES WITH THE WESTERN CADETS SATURDAY

Important Match in Interscholastic League—Many Out of Town Games.

In the only game scheduled in the Interscholastic League, Smith Academy, minus its "peerless leader," Capt. Hager, will battle with Western Military Academy at Kulaga's Park Saturday.

Neither team has experienced a defeat in the League race as yet, and the game should have a material effect in deciding which of the two teams will contest with Central for interscholastic championship honors.

Central High School will journey to Taylorville, Ill., to meet the high school of that town, while McKinley High, emboldened by Smith Academy's showing at Polk, will likewise tackle the Miners Saturday. Yeatman also will seek glory away from home and meet the strong East St. Louis High on the latter's grounds. Manual, the other prominent local team, has a polo match scheduled for Saturday.

Shurtleff College, which defeated Central High last week, 4-0, meets the Lady Milliken University eleven at Deatur Saturday, and one of the prettiest struggles of the year among the minor colleges should result. Milliken has defeated Rose Poly and Shurtleff best Washington, which shows both schools to be stronger than usual this season.

CHAMPION ATHLETES MEET
IN BIG NEW YORK CARNIVAL

Race Between Sheppard and Others in 600-Yard Run a Feature.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A splendid lot of athletes from all parts of the country will compete in the national indoor championships of the Amateur Athletic Union at Madison Square Garden Friday and Saturday nights.

An interesting event is the 600-yard run, in which Melvin W. Sheppard, the phenomenal runner of the Irish-American Athletic Club, will meet Frank Sheehan of Boston, J. J. Bromberg, Charles Bacon, W. Mackay of Canada, and other well-known middle-distance runners. Sheehan won the junior half-mile championship at the Jamestown Exposition and forced Sheppard to the utmost in the senior half-mile the next day.

Second Baptist Girls Win.

The Second Baptist Church girls defeated the Central High girls in a basketball game at St. Louis Thursday night, score 8 to 6.

POLICE TO STOP
ALL BOXING BOUTS

Chief Creecy Fails to See Point of
A. A. U. Claims—May Make Test.

A meeting of the directors of the Missouri Athletic Club will take place Saturday to decide whether or not a test case will be made of the order issued by Chief of Police Creecy to stop all boxing, amateur or otherwise, in St. Louis. In all probability the club will decide to hold a "closed" boxing tournament Nov. 15, and then put it up to the police to make a raid.

John J. O'Connor and other members of the Western branch of the Amateur Athletic Union called upon the Chief Thursday to explain that amateur boxing between and before club members only, was not a violation of the law. The Chief listened patiently and then announced he could not take their view and would insist on his own interpretation where admission was charged, even though only members of the club were permitted to buy tickets.

At one time the Missouri Athletic Club held boxing bouts for members and charged no fee. The spirit became so popular that the officers of the club, with an eye to the main chance, put a price of a dollar each on the tickets and this gives Chief of Police Creecy a chance to rule against them.

Chief Creecy also announced that he will attempt to put a stop to fighting in St. Louis for bouts over the river. Quite a number of the boxers have been working in the M. A. C. gymnasium.

SUTTON RUNS 344 AT 18:2
BILLIARDS IN PRACTICE GAME

Beats Record, but Score Is Unofficial—Averages 31 in 812 Points.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—George Sutton, practicing for his 152 championship match with Jake Schaefer, Thursday night made a run of 344, which equals the record at that style of game by 37 points.

Sutton's run, however, does not constitute a record, as it was made in a practice game. In 812 points he averaged 31, with the white and 50 with the black, playing the white against the black.

American Golfer Accepts.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—C. B. MacDonald of New York, the amateur golf champion of the United States in 1905, has accepted the invitation extended by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, to become a member of the Rules Committee of that Club.

Plunges and Jackles

The poor showing of the Minnesota eleven against Nebraska, the victory being obtained by two field goals, has made the critics of the "Big Nine" conference teams pessimistic about the chances of Coach Williams against Stagg and his Chicago Maroons. As a wet field practically beat the latter in 1905, and the Chicagoans playing thus far has surpassed that of the Gophers, there is little doubt of a Midway victory a week from Saturday. Steffen is proving a second Eckersall in the kicking line, though lacking the latter's accuracy in dropped goals as yet.

The Carlisle Indians have been indulging in secret practice all this week for the Penn game Saturday, their first big contest of the year. The frozen North is not proving a warm proposition on the gridiron, as it is announced from the Indian school.

Despite the early adverse criticism, the English Rugby game has apparently reached a general popularity in California. The critics no longer roast the enforced importation, and the newspapers daily chronicle new additions to the faith.

Although it is hard to believe that Freddie Weeks, the Cripple Creek, who is to meet Abe Attell Nov. 25, has any chance against the champion, the Pacific Coast papers are endeavoring to prepare the public for a surprise, judging from the tenor of their comments. A peculiarity of the young Coloradoan is that he cannot stand for the mauling that goes with the rube-down, winning at the slightest punch of the masseur, while in the ring he takes the hardest kind of stomach punches without wincing.

William Macklin, a local colored boxer, is anxious to meet "Birdie" Collins, offering to bet the former Denverite $500 he cannot put him out in six rounds. The club at Collinsville, Ill., may offer a purse.

MANILA TO SEE
BROWNS PLAY

Hedges Considering Proposition for Oriental Jaunt During Month of November.

If the steamship companies sailing from San Francisco or Seattle will make satisfactory rates, President Robert Lee Hedges and 15 members of the St. Louis Browns will sail on Nov. 5 for Manila to play a series of games with the United States Army, Russian, Japanese and native teams in the Philippine Islands.

Five thousand dollars has been subscribed by the merchants and army officers of Manila as a guarantee for the team to make the trip, and efforts have been made to carry the men over on an army transport. This last idea has failed, however.

Should the Browns make the trip, and Mr. Hedges is now negotiating for the transportation with the steamship lines, it would be the longest journey ever made for games in a single country. The trip from St. Louis would take more than a month and the games would be played in about the same length of time, making a three-months' jaunt of the affair.

Mr. Hedges proposes taking the following players if arrangements turn out satisfactorily: Howell, Powell, Wallace, Pickering, Jones, Niles, Chris, Connor, Stephens, Gardner, Hartwell and one or two of the minor leaguers who have been signed for next season.

Manager McAleer was asked to go along, but decided the trip from Cleveland to Detroit several times during the regular season was all he wanted of the water.

Great preparations are being made in Manila for the reception of the team if it goes. The army officers over there first opened the negotiations for the trip, as there is going to be a big athletic carnival on the islands early in December in which athletes of all the nationalities in that part of the world will compete. The ball games will be the principal features.

The Browns are scheduled to begin their spring training trip in March. The players who make the trip to the Orient would be in splendid condition by that time and all ready to join the rest of the team in Shreveport, La.

"The plan has been going on quietly for some time," said Mr. Hedges this morning. "If the team had finished a little higher up or shown any disposition to play the best ball they had to offer, I would not have hesitated a minute about the trip, but would have been glad to give them the outing."

"As it stands now, I have a bid of $300 a man from the steamship company which sails from San Francisco for the round trip. That of course does not include the fare from St. Louis. If I can get a little better terms than that sailing from Seattle or Vancouver we will go."

"I have written the Manila people that if we do not come over this winter, I will start for there with a team next October."

With a very patched-up line St. Louis University will meet Creighton University at Sportsman's Park Saturday afternoon. Depew, Lamb and Brennan are the regulars, who will be missing. Sullivan and Hughes will be two of the men called upon to fill the vacancies.

The presence of Sullivan in the line will be watched with a good deal of interest by the followers of the team as in practice age, fatigue work he has shown all the earmarks of a first-class man and much interest will be attached to his showing in the real fray. Hughes is a powerful fellow who subdues last year for Creighton, and though he appears not to be in the best physical condition, is certainly more aggressive and active than he was last season and should make good at guard. Big Lee is to be switched to tackle and it is expected that he will show to better advantage there than at guard. The Chicago boys certainly have the physical requisite for a lineman, but as yet has shown only mediocre ability as a football player.

Creighton comes heralded as one of the best eleven of the Northwest and as it is the first team making any pretense to class that St. Louis U. will meet this season, local followers of the game are hoping for a close contest. One of the interesting features of the struggle will be the attempt of the Omaha team to stop the forward pass of the local school. It is said that the visitors have been drilled especially for a defense to this end, and if so, should furnish a splendid basis of estimating the value of this much-discussed innovation of the game when attempted to be worked on a team of caliber and one coached especially to meet it.

RIGHT TO READ BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS CONTESTED

Parents of Catholic Pupils in Winchester, Ill., Oppose King James' Version and Say Ceremony is Sectarian.

The right of a city school board to require the reading of the Bible, the singing of sacred hymns and the recital of the Lord's prayer in the public schools is to be tested through a suit filed against the Board of Education of Winchester, Ill. Winchester Catholics, who do not accept the King James' version of the Bible, have instituted the action.

Judge Thomas F. Fenne of Jerseyville filed the action, which requests a writ of mandamus, and it will be heard before Judge O. P. Thompson at the October term of the Circuit Court in Winchester, beginning Oct. 28. The petitioners are Jeremiah Ring, James J. Doyle, Johanna Watts, Mary Murphy and Bridget Markille, parents of children in the Winchester Public School, and is directed against E. H. Burrows, president of the Board of Education, and State's Attorney Ralph M. Riggs, who is secretary of the board.

The action is based on the provision of the Illinois constitution, which insures religious freedom. The complainants allege that scriptural reading is sectarian. They set forth that they do not accept the version of the Bible that is read and that their children should not be compelled to participate in exercises that their church does not sanction.

Judge Fenne states that the practices against which complaint is made have been in vogue for several years, despite repeated protests on the part of Father C. S. Bell, pastor of the Winchester Catholic Church. He says that the Winchester Catholic Church has formally petitioned the School Board to order scriptural reading in the school discontinued, but that the board has taken the ground that it has the legal right to require such reading.

The board has employed Judge Thomas A. Warren to assist Mr. Riggs in the trial of the case, and both sides have announced their willingness to make a test procedure of the pending action. It is said that the Supreme Court of Illinois has never passed on the questions involved.

The trouble originated when an evangelist conducted services during school hours.

SHOCKED BY DREAM OF WHISTLE. PUNCTUAL MAN DIED IN WIFE'S ARMS

Thomas McCarty Leaped From Bed at 3 a. m., Calling "I'll Be Late."

Dreaming that the whistles were blowing which summoned him to work each morning at 7 o'clock, Thomas McCarty, aged 62, an employee of the Hapgood Plow Co. at Alton, sprang out of bed at 3 a. m., greatly agitated, and immediately collapsed from heart failure. He was dead before a physician could be called.

For 12 years McCarty had been working in the plow factory, and never had he been one minute late to work.

Mrs. McCarty was awakened when he leaped out of bed.

"The whistles are blowing," he exclaimed, "the whistles are blowing and I'll be late to work."

Before Mrs. McCarty could reach his side he dropped to the floor. She clasped him in her arms and tried to tell him that it was only 3 a. m. He did not answer, and died in a few minutes.

The doctor said the agitation caused by dreaming that the whistles were blowing and that he would be late to work had undoubtedly overtaxed the weak heart and caused death.

Mrs. McCarty's two sons and a brother, besides her husband, died from heart disease.

NEGRO GRABS PAY ENVELOPE AND TRIES TO ESCAPE ON CAR

Pursued by Policemen Who Use Contractor's Buggy and Make Capture.

Louis Bell, a negro laborer employed in the Sewer Department, was handed his envelope Thursday afternoon at Grand avenue and Natural Bridge road, where the "ghost" was walking. Then the paymaster picked up the fat envelope intended for William Nelson, the foreman.

Bell grabbed the fat envelope, ran from the shanty and boarded a passing trolley car. Policemen Dunn and Holtman followed in Contractor's Wagon. Bell's buggy and after a chase of 10 blocks overtook the car. The negro was arrested. He had only $10 in his pockets, though the stolen envelope had contained $250.

Passengers on the car told the policemen they had seen Bell hand something to another man on the rear platform, who had immediately jumped off the car.

ROBBER WHO TRIED TO KILL MAN ASKS CLEMENCY

"Don't Be Too Hard on Me," He Pleads With Ernst T. Fritton, Victim.

Charles Williams, highway robber, whom only good fortune saved from being a murderer, pleaded at the City Hospital Friday with Ernst T. Fritton, whom he robbed of a gold watch, not to be "too hard" on him.

It was not known until Friday that Williams was the man who robbed Fritton last Friday night at Mississippi avenue and Kennett place. Williams was shot in the leg by a private watchman after robbing and attempting to kill Fletcher Field at Washington and Channing avenues. His revolver snapped twice, saving the life of Field, at whose head he held it.

Fritton learned Friday that the robber carried a gold watch, and identified it later he and Miss Myra Liebmann of 1818 Chapeau avenue, who was with him at the time of the robbery, went to the hospital and identified Williams. "Don't be too hard on me," said the prisoner, recognizing Fritton before the latter had spoken a word. "I only did it because I was hard up. I never done anything like that before."

COURT FREES MAN ARRESTED FOR SMILING AT POLICEMAN

Frank Sip, a shoe striker, of 1513 South Third street, was arrested while doing picket duty near a factory at Thirtieth and Main streets. "Your Honor," said Policeman Schieby at his trial in Dayton Street Police Court, "as I was walking past the factory I saw a man smiling at me. I arrested him, and he smiled at me and I arrested him." Judge Pollard didn't quite explode. He drew a long breath. "Since when," he almost shouted, "did it become an offense to smile at a policeman? I'll admit a man must have a great deal of good nature to be able to do such a thing. But to get arrested for smiling is preposterous. Smiles are the joy and the sunlight of the world. The defendant is discharged. I hope that he will keep on smiling. There he smiles the better citizen he will be."

POLLARD FREES UNION PICKET ARRESTED IN PARK

Upholds Right to Accost Persons in Orderly Manner and Wishes Prisoner Godspeed.

Judge Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Court held Friday that the police have no right to interfere with a striker who does picket duty in a public park. James L. Kavanaugh of 1213 North Sixteenth street was arrested by Sergt. Lang of the North Market Street Station for sitting in Jackson Square and taking the names of employees of the Peters Shoe Co.'s factory. The sergeant said he was writing the names in a book and stopped one little girl and asked her if she worked in the factory. "The parks are for the people," said Judge Pollard, "and the defendant violated no law by sitting in the park and writing in a book. He properly refused to leave the park when ordered to do so by the police. No man will be convicted in this court for sitting in the parks and writing in books, so long as they do it in an orderly manner. The defendant may go back to the park and sit as long as he likes, and may God bless him."

I positively make to your order the same garment you get at other good tailors for one-half his price.

I stand ready at all times to back up my statement.

There is no reason why I can't.

My buying opportunities are so great that I can purchase the output of any mill in the world.

I make all garments in my own workrooms, which are the most up-to-date, spacious and healthful in the world.

How many tailors can do this?

Most of them are compelled to job their manufacturing to outside workrooms, many of which are sweatshops.

My prices for finely made-to-your-order clothes are no higher than ready-made guess-fits.

Why buy them when you can have clothes made to the minute of style and to fit accurately. Come, see, and be convinced that I'm the tailor who makes you two garments for the other fellow's price of one, or if you only order one, you pocket the difference. Samples sent anywhere.

Following an Opera-

Mrs. Lottie Mastbrook, aged 29, is at the City Hospital suffering from a stab wound in the breast and refuses to tell where or how it was inflicted. Her husband, Gus Mastbrook of 733 South Broadway, says she stabbed herself because of the pain following an operation performed at the Female Hospital.

She will recover.

Mrs. Mastbrook was a patient at the Female Hospital until a few days ago, when she was discharged as being cured. Policeman Cashels was called to her home Thursday night, found her wounded, and accepted her husband's explanation, as she refused to say anything.

HADLEY SCORES OIL TRUST AS LAW BREAKER

Attorney-General Declares
Ouster Suit Most Important
Since Dred Scott Case.

HE CRITICISES PIERCE
Says Much of Delay Was Due to Tactics of St. Louis Millionaire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 23.—Arguments in Attorney-General Hadley's suit to oust the Standard Oil Co., the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. and the Republic Oil Co. from Missouri were completed in the Supreme Court on Monday today. The closing argument was delivered by H. S. Pierce, counsel for the Waters-Pierce Co. A decision is expected the latter part of November.

H. Clay Pierce, member of the Executive Board of the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. who is under indictment in Texas on a charge of making a false affidavit at the time the Waters-Pierce company was admitted to that State, was present in Court during the arguments. He came from St. Louis in his private car with his attorneys. Five servants had charge of the car. Mr. Pierce's two sons also accompanied him.

The question before the Court is the affirmation or rejection of the report of Judge Anthony, commissioner appointed to take testimony in the suit. Judge Anthony rendered a verdict of ouster, which must be affirmed by the Court if it is to be enforced.

Joint Ownership Admitted.

The opening argument was made by Attorney Frank Hagerman of Kansas City, representing the oil companies. Mr. Hagerman admitted the ownership of the waters-Pierce and Republic Oil companies by the Standard Oil Co., and admitted that Missouri was divided to prevent the business of one company conflicting with that of the other.

He argued that the Standard Oil Co. had a right to obtain control of other companies, and that the common ownership of stock of two companies does not make a trust.

"A division of territory is not illegal or immoral," he declared. "If there can legally be no territorial division by business interests every wholesale house and manufacturing establishment in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph is violating the law. Every one of those establishments divides the territory to be covered, and restricts sales by agents and others."

Hadley Scores Pierce.

Attorney-General Hadley, in opening his argument, said:

"Attorneys for the defendants have promised to produce witnesses time and time again, and have violated their promises. Much of the delay was caused by the failure of H. Clay Pierce to appear to testify."

The brief submitted by the defendants to the commissioner was a confused argument upon law and fact, and was submitted with the apparent design of confusing the commissioner in his decision, rather than the enlightenment of the Court upon the issues of the litigation."

The Attorney-General then recalled the history of the Oil Trust, as shown by the evidence.

In closing he said:

"This case, which is now submitted for decision, is, with the possible exception of the Northern Securities case, the most important that has come before a court in this country since the Dred Scott case."

Only Two Conclusions.

"One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either our laws, which represent the experience of centuries and the moral judgment of eighty millions of people, are an unwarranted and ill-advised interference with private business affairs, or else these respondents should be compelled to discontinue the plan of their organization and the method in which their business is conducted."

"If our laws are wrong they should be repealed. But so long as they remain upon the statute books and in the decisions of our courts they should have a vigorous and effective interpretation so as to prevent the existence and operation of combinations of money and of power which can and do repeal the law of competition and of supply and demand, which reduce the price of raw material which they purchase, and raise the price of the finished product which they sell."

The question as to whether such combinations can continue in the future as they have in the past, in open and notorious defiance of the laws of the nation and the State, is the most important question today in our national life. The decision of this question will affect the security of our institutions and the future of our civilization."

Trusts Defy Laws.

"In our day and age trusts and monopolies have come into existence and grown to power, not through the assistance of the Government and the law, but in opposition to the one and in violation of the other. They do not exist by reason of unfair privileges conferred by a monarch, but they exist and enjoy their power and immense profits by reason of unfair and illegal privileges, by dishonest and disreputable methods of competition and by a plan of organization and operation directly opposed to the laws of the nation and of the State."

"For the first time in its history the greatest of these combinations is brought face to face with the law and the courts for a decision as to the legality of its plan of organization and its business methods. If upon it all come a condemnation commensurate with the offenses of which it has been shown to be guilty, then will be accomplished more for the individual freedom of this country—more for the protection of the individual against wrong and oppression—more for the securing of equal rights and equal opportunities—than has been accomplished by the decision of any court in the history of this commonwealth."

Hotel Guests Asked to Move.

W. F. Williamson, manager of the Windermere Hotel, announced Friday that he had notified persons who were captured in the recent craps raid on the billiard room of the hotel to vacate their rooms. He said gambling is strictly forbidden at the Windermere and those who used the billiard room in the manner charged abused their privileges.

DAUGHTER WOULD RIDE IN A HELMANN'S NEW BALLOON

Manufacturer Orders Gasbag and Will Inaugurate Sky Sailing in St. Louis—He Thinks It Safe as Automobiling.

Morris A. Helmann, manufacturer, will be accompanied by Melba, his 13-year-old daughter, when he makes pleasure trips from St. Louis in a balloon he has just ordered from Leo A. Stevens of New York. He is the first St. Louisan to buy a balloon, and he says the sport is, in his opinion, as safe as that the child will enjoy it with him.

Mr. Helmann is known in St. Louis as an automobile enthusiast and "scorcher." His favorite machine at present is a company four-cylinder car, in which he makes 45 and 50 miles an hour over country roads. He has made long-distance trips to Shelbyville, Wis., Nashville, Tenn., and New York. He holds the record for the last run, 120 hours going, and 90 returning.

But the balloon is destined to supplant the automobile for sport. Mr. Helmann believes, and he wants to be early in the game. He made the acquaintance of the balloonists who came to St. Louis for the recent race, and declares that the start of that event was the prettiest spectacle he ever witnessed. It was this that determined him to own his own balloon and initiate the sport here.

Balloon Will Not Be Large.
The contract signed by Mr. Helmann and Stevens Thursday night at the Hotel Jefferson provides for a $1500 balloon of 35,000 cubic feet capacity, with a basket built for two. This is less than half the size of the balloons competing in the Bennett cup race, but Mr. Helmann expects to go to New York in it.

"I guess I won't get arrested so often as I do in my auto," Mr. Helmann said with a laugh, "but I might get arrested on the head coming down."

Mr. Helmann is a widower, and has bachelor quarters at 215 E. Butler street. His daughter, Melba, is a student at Forest Park University.

Sulzer admitted he fired the shot and was not "gunning" for Werner after his wife told him she had called the home and made improper advances towards her.

RUSTY NAIL IS BASIS OF SUIT
Estate Tries to Show It Caused William Beasley's Death.

The case of Martha Beasley, administratrix of the estate of William Beasley, against the St. Louis National Stockyards, for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, is on trial in the East St. Louis City Court. There were no eye-witnesses to Beasley's death, and the suit is based on circumstantial evidence.

Beasley was the foreman of a stockyard switching crew, and was killed April 14. He was last seen alive while he was riding on an oil car. The evidence shows that a rusty nail projected from the side of the oil car. Witnesses testified that a shiny object, and of the nail indicated that the rust had been recently rubbed off as if cloth had been rubbed on it.

A small rock found beside the track near the body, witnesses testified, might have caused Beasley to stumble. Witnesses also testified that two ties projected from the ground, and that the earth had not been properly filled around them.

The trial was begun Thursday morning, and will probably occupy the attention of Judge Meyers and a jury until late Saturday.

Harriman Pacific Lead the Market With Substantial Gains.

Sentiment in the local wheat market again veered Friday morning, and after the heavy selling of yesterday the other end of the seasaw was brought into prominence, prices veering good advance early in the day. The demand, however, was, as usual, insufficient to absorb the heavy offerings which poured in late in the day, and prices sold down from the high levels, the close being $2 to 3c higher for the day. Export pool cables closed unchanged on spot wheat and 3d to 1d higher for the futures. Paris closed 3c lower on wheat and unchanged to 1c lower on flour. Berlin wheat closed 3c lower, and the Antwerp and Budapest quotations were delayed. Argentine shipments of wheat were 512,000 bu., against 544,000 bu. last week and 968,000 bu. a year ago. The visible supply of wheat in the chief ports of Argentina is 624,000 bu., against 388,000 bu. last week, and 388,000 bu. a year ago. The Argentine wheat market is steady and the demand quiet. Arrivals from the interior are larger and the quality satisfactory. The weather in Argentina is unsettled, and continues rainy.

All features favored the bulls at the start, but the buying consisted almost entirely of short covering. This reached large proportions, however, and prices advanced 1/4 to 1/2c over Thursday's close. The unexpectedly higher cables were the chief feature, the cause being the Argentine shipments of wheat, which is steady and the demand quiet. Arrivals from the interior are larger and the quality satisfactory. The weather in Argentina is unsettled, and continues rainy.

ERBSLOEH NOT TO BE ASKED TO FLY HERE ALONE

German, Bennett Cup Winner, to Try at Once for Lahm Trophy.

HE PREFERS DALLAS

Believes He Can Sail From Texas to Maine and Break Records.

James E. Smith, president of the Business Men's League, which helped defray the expenses here of the James Gordon Bennett Cup race, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that unless Oscar Erbsloeh was a competent pilot other contestants who proposed making flights for the Lahm Cup, he did not think the league would feel justified in undertaking to divert Erbsloeh's trial from Dallas to St. Louis.

Mr. Smith's statement was based on telegrams his dispatches from New York stating that Erbsloeh, winner of the Gordon Bennett Cup, had announced he might try for the Lahm Cup, starting from Dallas, Tex.

"The league will be glad to arrange to have Mr. Erbsloeh start from the gas works at Second and Rutgers streets," said Mr. Smith, "regarding the possibility of holding an annual balloon meeting here is one of such enormous expense that it would have to be carefully considered."

Erbsloeh has announced, according to New York advices, that he will immediately challenge for the Lahm Cup and make a second flight, probably from Dallas, Tex., prior to returning home.

At a dinner given in his honor by the German Club of New York he declared that he hoped also in his second flight in America to break all records for long-distance flying. He said he thought he would be able to go from Dallas to New Hampshire or Maine.

Must Have Good Gas.

The aeronaut has already telegraphed to Dallas, announcing that he would make a flight from that city provided he could be guaranteed as good gas as was furnished in St. Louis to the Bennett Cup contestants. If he does not start from Texas he said he would probably make the second air voyage from St. Louis.

The Lahm Cup is presumably held by Capt. Chandler, who sailed 475 miles last week, but Alan R. Hawley has registered a claim for it. He states that before sailing in the Bennett Cup race he paid the required fee and gave notice that he would try also for the Lahm trophy. He made the claim.

L. D. Dozier, president of the Aero Club of St. Louis, says that he already considers a balloon competition from St. Louis assured for October, 1908. A number of national aero clubs were not entered in the Bennett cup competition this year and Mr. Dozier believes that with one year in which to work up interest in the competition these clubs could be induced to send representatives to St. Louis.

America Challenges Winner.

Press dispatches say that the directors of the Aero Club of America has authorized Cortland F. Bishop, president of the club, to challenge the winner of the recent race from St. Louis, entering three American teams for the competition, which will be held next year in Europe. Under the rules the American club need not name the competing teams until Feb. 1.

Before the meeting of the Board of Directors the Contest Committee controlling Monday's race held a session to determine officially the winner of the race.

Acting within their rights, Alfred Leane and E. W. Mix, who navigated French balloon L'Esle de France, made a request for an official measurement of the relative distances from St. Louis to the actual spots at which their airship and the German balloon Pommeren ended their flight.

At the close of the meeting of the Contest Committee Mr. Bishop said: "The committee is allowed 30 days in which to name the winner, and in view of the request made by the French team the committee will take that time. The Contest Committee will investigate thoroughly the relative positions of the contesting teams. Each competitor in his report has named various persons who actually witnessed his descent. These persons will be personally visited by members of the committee."

"Each contestant was instructed also to mark the precise spot where he alighted. Mr. Erbsloeh did so by driving a stake. Others erected piles of stones or otherwise designated the spot. The bills of information which were supposed to be dropped at least every two hours during the flight, will be collected so far as possible and compared. None has been sent in yet."

Logs Must Be Studied.

"Logs of the voyage must be studied and the sealed barographs, some of which have been returned to the club by contestants with their seals broken, permanently by accident, must be completely verified."

The barograph shows whether the balloon touched earth during its flight. If it did the contestant is ruled out. According to the revised figures from Washington, as given out last night at the Aero Club, Oscar Erbsloeh in the Pommeren traveled 524 miles; Alfred Leane in the L'Esle de France, 519 miles; Capt. Von Abercron in the Dusseldorf, 50 miles; J. C. McCoy in the American, 75 1/2 miles; Alan R. Hawley in the St. Louis, 71 1/2 miles; Paul Meckel in the German balloon Abercron, 68 1/2 miles; Rene Gaumier in the French balloon Anjou, 67 1/2 miles; Maj. Henry B. Hervey in the United States, 65 1/2 miles; and Griffith Brewer in the English balloon Lotus II, 53 1/2 miles.

As the result of trying to fill a gasoline stove while she held a lighted match in her hand, Mamie Hinah was severely burned and probably will be disfigured for life, and her little sister, Annie, 4 years old, may die.

The Hinahs live at 1456 St. Louis avenue. Early Friday morning Mrs. Hinah left the house to go to work, leaving Mamie, who is 17 years old, at home with the baby. Annie, who had been playing in the yard, ran into the house and bumped against her while Mamie was filling the stove and the gasoline came in contact with the match. An explosion followed and the blazing fluid was thrown over both the girls, enveloping them in flames.

Runs Into Yard.

Annie ran into the yard screaming, while the older girl tried to dispose of the blazing car and stove, although she was afeared from head to foot.

A man, who heard the cries of the baby, ran into the yard and threw a carpet, which was hanging on a line, over the child and extinguished the flames, but only after the clothes had been almost burned from its body. Neighbors summoned the fire department and the fire in the house was extinguished. The girls were taken to the office of Dr. A. A. Henske, who dressed the burns and called an ambulance to take them to the City Hospital.

Thieves Runaway Launch.

The third theft of machinery from gasoline launches on the Mississippi River within a week was reported to the police Friday. The police believe the work to be by the same gang. The launch "Teddy," owned by George Schmitt of 614 Park avenue, was broken into at the foot of Cherokee street Thursday night. Nearly all the machinery in the boat was torn out and carried off.

JUDGE WURDEMAN BACKED TO SUCCEED BOSS ESSEN

Movement Started in St. Louis County to Make Him Republican Chairman.

Probate Judge Wurdeinan is favored by leaders in the St. Louis County Good Government League for the chairmanship of the County Republican Committee, to succeed Fred Essen, now boss of the county.

The position of chairman will be filled by election by the committee to be chosen at a primary election next August. Essen's recent announcement, made during the investigation of county affairs, that he intended to be boss in fact as well as in name has been taken as meaning that he will seek re-election to the committee.

Essen and Wurdeinan both reside in Central Township, and this township will have to choose between them if Judge Wurdeinan is persuaded to become a candidate.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.
